70 Miles of Heavy Fog Cause Ship Stranding

THE U. S. LINER GEO. WASHINGTON BENDS SCREW

BIG SHIP RAMMED BY DANISH MOTORSHIP MALAYA IN FOG BLANKET

MANY SHIPS GROPE 50 HOURS TO COVER REGULAR SIX HOUR JOURNEY

Hamburg, Dec. 22. — (U.P.) — Seventy miles of heavy fog, from Hamburg to the mouth of the Elbe river, caused a wholesale stranding of ships today.

One of the screws of the United States liner George Washington was bent when the ship was rammed by the Danish motorship Malaya. The George Washington was not damaged seriously, and was towed to port and disembarked her passengers. The captain of the Malaya ran his ship aground near Dockenhuden to keep it from sinking.

Two of the Malaya's cargo compartments were flooded.

Many ships required 50 hours of groping through the fog to make the run from the mouth of the Elbe to port here, a journey requiring six hours normally.

The Deutschland, of the Hamburg American line, grounded near Finkenwaerder. The ship was freed by tug boats. The English ship Auk went aground near Schulau.

Among other ships stranded and aground in the fog were the German coal ship Gretchen Moeller, the Italian ore freighter Patricia, and the Dutch ship Matjime.

'WILD ABE' GAS WELL IS TAMED AT LAST

Wewoka, Okla., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The third effort to blast the flames from the unruly "Wild Abe" gas well of Deep Rock Oil corporation on the Wewoka townsite was successful today.

A 45 pound charge of nitro-gelatine placed in a trough near the torch and detonated by electricity snuffed out the blaze shortly before 9 a. m. today.

The large charge was emplaced by Harry and S. M. McKinnley famous wild well fighters who flew to Tulsa last night to prepare the special explosive after two efforts to blast the well Sunday failed.

A real cloud of dust and debris obscured the Douglas well when the charge was detonated. The force of the explosion forced the gas column deep into the hole creating a vacuum. When the gas again rose the fire above the surface had consumed the gas and had burned itself out.

A second after the last dart of flame had disappeared high in the air the roaring column of gas, estimated at 60,000,000 cubic feet daily mixed with a daily oil flow of 800 barrels, shot skyward.

The task of shutting in the wild well was expected to take two or three days. Drillers moved a Starr machine over the hole and began the hazardous task of controlling the flow.

A northwesterly wind whipped the great clouds of oil and gas spray away from the city but caused United States highway No. 270 to be sprayed with oil. Traffic was detoured on this main highway. Several houses and a prairie oil and gas pipe line station were sprayed.

More Radio Telephone Service, from U. S. to Bermuda Islands

Application has been made by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to the Federal Radio Commission for a construction permit to erect stations for a short wave radio telephone service between the United States and the Bermuda Islands. The company contemplates a service that will provide voice communication between the Bermudas and all the United States. In Bermuda the service will be handled by the Imperial and International Communications, Ltd., working in conjunction with the Bermuda Telephone Company.

The plans call for the construction of a transmitting station at Lawrenceville, N. J. adjacent to the short wave transmitters now used in the telephone service to Europe and South America. The transmitter will have a power of about 500 watts and will be associated with two directive antenna arrays.

The receiving station will be located at Netcong, N. J., the site of the short wave receivers for the European and South American telephone systems.

The Bermuda Islands are approximately eight hundred miles from New York. While the population is small since the entire group lies within a 22-mile circle, the Islands are visited annually by thousands of Americans on vacation, and the number is increasing each year. The proposed direct voice channel will enable these visitors to keep in close touch with affairs at home.

MONACO, TINY PRINCIPALITY, HAS RIOTING TODAY

Monte Carlo, Monaco, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Rioting marked the return today of Prince Louis II, ruler of the principality of Monaco.

A mob clashed with the Monaco army of between 100 and 200 soldiers and attempted to burn the stone police station as part of a political demonstration by dissatisfied elements. About 40 constitutionalists were arrested.

2 CHILDREN LOSE LIVES IN A FIRE CLAIMED SET

4 ACCUSED CHICAGO MEN APPARENTLY LITTLE CONCERNED OVER DEATHS

TELL STORY OF ARRANGING THE FIRE SO PROPRIETOR COULD COLLECT INSURANCE

Chicago, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Four men, apparently little concerned over the deaths of two children whom they are accused of murdering, told today how they arranged a fire in a meat market so the proprietor could collect $2,800 insurance on $600 worth of equipment.

"Can I collect the insurance" asked Harry Golvarg, proprietor of the shop, "I need money to hire an attorney and to pay the men who set the fire."

Golvarg implicated Jacob Tatelman, restaurant proprietor; Jack Rosow, a waiter in Tatelman's Cafe, and Martin Borad, said to have been a dupe in the case. Police were searching for an unnamed wealthy business man who set Golvarg up in business and assertedly suggested the fire to get his money back.

Funeral services were conducted today for the victims, Jerome, 6, and Homer, 4, children of Irving Israelson, whose home next door to the butcher shop was destroyed. Their mother was near death from burns.

"It wasn't our fault," each of the men insisted when told of the funeral plans. "We never thought the fire would spread."

Rosow and Tatelman admitted setting the fire, police said, but claimed that Borad had no knowledge of the crime and participated only by driving them to the shop in his father's automobile.

Golvarg was arrested when police found in his shop a partly burned telephone directory which had been saturated with gasoline. Murder charges were filed against the four men after he made a lengthy statement to police.

BOUTHINON'S WEALTH DREAM SUDDENLY ENDED

HAD MILLION DOLLAR MOTOR CAR MANUFACTURING AIM IN LIFE

WAS PRESIDENT OF DEFUNCT DIAMOND PARTS COMPANY OF ST. CLOUD

St. Cloud, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The $1,000,000 motor car manufacturing dream of George C. Bouthinon was ended today after his suicide in Los Angeles Saturday.

Bouthinon, president of the defunct Diamond Motor Parts Company and 28 others associated with him in its promotion were to go on trial on mail fraud charges at Fergus Falls Jan. 6.

His suicidal death from exhaust fumes of his car will not halt prosecution of his associates, U. S. officials said.

Bouthinon's vision of a motor car industry stirred local residents and others in the northwest who bought stock. When the hum of industry started again in the factory of the defunct Pan Motor Company, St. Cloud citizens believed the motor industry was to be represented at last in their city.

The Pan concern had ended in disaster with failure of the corporation and prosecution of its officials.

But like its predecessor, the Diamond Motors bubble burst at length in 1928. After nearly two years of investigation by postal officials a federal grand jury last spring returned indictments against its promoters charging a scheme to defraud by use of the mails.

For months, the indicted officials have been rounded up throughout the country. A total of 19 have surrendered and indicated they were ready to face trial at Fergus Falls.

Bouthinon who had retired to a sanatorium in California with the crash of his enterprise, surrendered on an indictment. Though his health was poor, his condition was reported recently as having improved.

Holiday Respite May Cool Anger and Bring Harmony When Congress Reconvenes Jan. 5

THREE WEEKS OF BITTER FIGHTING NEAR AN END

CONGRESS BOWS TO PRESIDENT HOOVER'S WILL FRAMING UNEMPLOYMENT BILL

ALSO DROUGHT RELIEF AND $150,000,000 FOR FEDERAL FARM BOARD

By LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 22.—Three weeks of bitter fighting between and among the two parties had ended today with a holiday respite during which republican leaders hope that angers will cool sufficiently to enable more harmonious procedure when congress reconvenes January 5.

Congress bowed to President Hoover's will in framing unemployment and drought relief legislation, supplied $150,000,000 to the federal farm board to continue its aid to agriculture and the senate confirmed the new five-man federal power commission. President Hoover signed the emergency bills late Saturday.

The two parties warred on each other. Finally they fought among themselves. Harsh discord and bad feeling accompanied adjournment at 12:06 Sunday morning.

In the last mad rush of emergency legislation, there was a political sensation in the revelation that Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee, paid for and sent to Nebraska literature designed to defeat Senator George W. Norris of his own party.

Democrats, too, entered the holiday after a party squabble. They split over confirmation of Frank R. McNinch, North Carolina, to the federal power commission. McNinch bolted Alfred E. Smith in 1928 and was appointed by Mr. Hoover to a democratic power commission vacancy. Minority Leader Robinson, Senator Glass, Virginia, and such veterans opposed him. But the senate democrats were divided and the opposition failed.

The spat merely was the finale to a more sharp democratic disagreement. Back bench democrats still are displeased with the promise of their leaders to co-operate with the administration.

In the contest between the White House and congress, Mr. Hoover has won so far. He was given $116,000,000 to create jobs by accelerating public works and gained his point that he should have wide discretion in allotting the expenditures among the various projects. A reluctant, almost sullen senate receded from its insistence that drought relief should extend specifically to the provision of human as well as live stock food. But congress was able to increase the $25,000,000 drought program of the president to $45,000,000.

The $150,000,000 farm board appropriation almost was lost in the last hours before the senate adjourned. Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, denounced the board and its methods. He warned its policy of buying wheat to peg prices merely was postponing "the day of judgment." Southern senators assailed Chairman Legge for failing to do for cotton what he has done for wheat. In the midst of this general attack, republican leaders pledged their side to remain in session all night if necessary and the hope of filibuster against the appropriation ended.

DEATH TOLL FROM JAVA VOLCANO ERUPTION OVER 300

London, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The death toll from eruptions of the volcano Merapi, in Java, is between 300 and 400, dispatches to the Daily Mail from Rotterdam said today. The volcano became active last Thursday.

Amsterdam, Dec. 22. — (U.P.) — Latest advices from Java said today that 700 had been killed and many were missing in the eruption of the volcano Merapi last week.

Eight villages were razed.

Fifteen hundred cattle were killed when a large and fertile region was covered with lava and red hot gravel.

Thousands of refugees arriving at the larger towns said it was impossible to penetrate into the volcanic area because of the continuous rain of hot ashes.

London, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Neil Munro, 66, well-known Scottish author, died at Helensburgh, Dumbartonshire, Scotland, today.

JURY FINDS SHEPARD GUILTY SLAYING WIFE

VERDICT CARRIES SENTENCE OF LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR DEFENDANT

JURY RECOMMENDED AGAINST CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

By REX R. GOAD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Kansas, Dec. 22. — A jury in federal district court here today found Maj. Charles A. Shepard guilty of murdering his wife, Zenana Shepard, by administering poison to her.

The verdict carried a sentence of life imprisonment, as the jury recommended against capital punishment.

The jury received the case at 3 P. M. Saturday and had debated the officer's fate continuously since that time, with the exception of intervals for rest and food.

Maj. Shepard stood with shoulders erect as the jury made its report. The verdict read:

"We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, but without capital punishment."

The indictment against Maj. Shepard charged first degree murder, punishable by death.

The recommendation against capital punishment makes a life sentence mandatory.

The jury went out to lunch at noon today apparently no nearer a verdict than it was when it resumed its deliberations this morning.

It returned to the federal building at 1 P. M. and shortly afterwards word spread through the court room that a verdict had been reached.

Federal Judge Hopkins, Major Shepard and attorneys in the case were summoned hastily.

The jury waited with its verdict for some time before all the attorneys could reach the court room. Some of them were staying with Maj. Shepard at a hotel in Kansas City, Mo.

Maj. Shepard walked into the court room in company with his attorney and the verdict was read immediately.

Judge Hopkins asked the defense lawyers if they wanted the jury polled. They replied they did.

Each juror's name then was called and he was asked if the verdict read to the court was his verdict. Each replied:

"It is."

Major Shepard, dressed in a light gray suit, received the verdict with barely hte batting of an eye.

His face, however, showed plainly the strain of the trial and those who saw him receive the verdict noted an expression almsot of relief, as if he were glad the ordeal was over.

Defense attorneys immediately served notice of appeal from the conviction.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 22. — The jury considering the evidence against Charles A. Shepard, charged with murdering his wife, still was deadlocked when it recessed for lunch today.

The major's attorneys, however, made vigorous denial of a report that he had expressed deep bitterness at the delay and resentment against Judge Richard J. Hopkins and government prosecutors.

There were many unverified rumors concerning the balloting by the jury, none of which were verifiable. The most recent report was that the jury stood 7 to 5 for acquittal.

It was ascertained that two of the jurors were close acquaintances of Miss Clara Brown, a nurse who attended Mrs. Shepard during her last illness and testified that she told her "Major Shepard has poisoned me." Defense attorneys in final argument spoke with bitterness against Miss Brown.

PRISONER LOCKS SHERIFF IN JAIL AND THEN ESCAPES

Morris, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Sheriff J. S. Ryan went out looking today for the prisoner who locked him in his jail and escaped.

When Sheriff Ryan brought a meal to Lawrence Englehardt, who had been in jail since September, Englehardt stepped out of his cell and locked the sheriff in behind him.

Ryan was locked in the cell for more than 20 minutes before he was released.

Lindy Turns Fire Fighter

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh using a fire extinguisher to quell the flames that came from his airplane at Baltimore. Mrs. Lindbergh was seated at the controls with field mechanics trying to start the motor when gasoline around the engine caught fire and started to spread to the wings of the monoplane. All the while Mrs. Lindbergh remained inside the pilot's cockpit.

GROCER RESENTS A HOLDUP; SHOOTS 1, HOLDS OTHER BANDIT

Chicago, Dec. 22—(U.P.)—Two men with pistols in their hands walked into John Mickus' grocery store last night. Five minutes later Mrs. Mickus gave this message to police by telephone:

"Hurry over. My husband just shot one bandit and he's sitting on another one."

The grocer refused to tell how he did it. He was chagrined because the bandit he shot managed to limp away and escape.

A. F. OF L. FAVORS 'RESERVE FUNDS' BY EMPLOYERS

ALSO BY STATE AND GOVERNMENT AGENCIES TO TIDE OVER SLACK TIMES

McGRADY PLAN IF CARRIED OUT WILL BENEFIT THE WORKERS

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — The American Federation of Labor, according to Edward P. McGrady, its general organizer and legislative representative, will go on record next month as supporting establishment of "reserve funds" by employers, state and government agencies for the benefit of workers in slack times.

If McGrady's plan, announced by him last night, is carried out, it will be a reversal of the A. F. of L.'s previous position against unemployment insurance. McGrady said complete details of the plan would be announced January 12 at the federation's quarterly executive council meeting at Miami.

The federation's scheme, to be presented in a congressional bill, calls for an unemployment fund to be raised in all industrial plants through contributions by employers and the government. The government's share probably would be 50 per cent and would be raised from income and inheritance taxes.

When McGrady was asked whether the scheme actually meant unemployment insurance, he answered, "You may call it that."

"The wage earner," McGrady told the labor institute forum, "has the same right to security of employment that the stockholder has to the security of dividend payments. Both make investments in the industry. Just as reserves are accumulated to secure dividends to the stockholders, there should also be guarantees that part of these reserves would be set aside to protect the workers when slack times come to that industry."

WHOLE THEORY OF 18TH AMENDMENT IS ATTACKED

PRES. HOPKINS OF DARTMOUTH COLLEGE DECLARES IT "PERNICIOUS"

EDUCATOR, HOWEVER, DOES NOT SUGGEST ANY SPECIFIC SUBSTITUTE

Hanover, N. H., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Pres. Ernest Martin Hopkins of Dartmouth college today applied the adjective "pernicious" to "the whole theory of the 18th amendment."

The educator did not suggest any specific substitute for the present national prohibition law, but he did express an unqualified conviction that prohibition in its current form was a failure and offered no hope even of ultimate success.

Dr. Hopkins, who for years had refused to declare publicly his attitude toward the 18th amendment, broke his silence in an 800-word letter to the National Temperance Council, composed of the principal officers of all national temperance organizations. The council had invited him to express his views.

In his letter, Dr. Hopkins said he could not understand how "individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for building up a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or to support the theory or the practice of the 18th amendment as defined in current legislation."

He could not see, he said, that "advantage has accrued to anybody, except possibly to industrial efficiency, in the enactment of the amendment and in the mass of legislation which has followed in its trail."

Hollywood, Dec. 22—(U.P.)—Leni Stengel, German film actress, and Boris Asarkh-Ingster, Russian picture director, will be married here Wednesday. Both are 27.

BREAK THREATENS WITH SEN. NORRIS OR ROBT. H. LUCAS

LATTER IS NEWLY SELECTED EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE PARTY

REVELATIONS OF LUCAS FOLLOW CLOSELY UPSET WITH CLAUDIUS HUSTON

Washington, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The republican party, torn by new discords, faced today the apparent necessity of breaking poenly with Senator George W. Norris or ejecting from its councils its newly selected executive director, Robert H. Lucas.

The fact that the decision must be made in the midst of national attention given to revelations of Lucas' efforts against Norris in the Nebraska campaign makes it all the more difficult for the party which emerged only recently from a somewhat similar experience with Claudius Huston, former national chairman. In that case Huston resigned but there has been no indication yet of a willingness to sacrifice Lucas.

There has been no secret to the antipathy of regular republicans to Norris, who bolted the party in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith. But until now the feeling has been kept more or less from public view. Now the whole thing has been forced into the open.

Lucas stated his side of the issue in a statement yesterday. He apparently wants to hold his job and is fighting against senate demands for his resignation. With this determination, he came out flatly with a demand that Norris be read out of his party. The statement, issued through the republican national committee, would indicate possible administration support of the view, as well as the sympathy of such republican leaders as Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, committee chairman, and Senate Floor Leader James E. Watson of Indiana.

The situation casts these regular republicans in open opposition to the insurgent element of the party.

Following the Huston difficulties, the more recent flareup over prohibition within the republican ranks and the party's difficulties in the present congress. The party seemed face to face with serious difficulties which might even go to the length of the splits of 1912 and 1924. The November elections, with their republican losses, have not helped the party's morale.

Lucas, in his statement, termed Norris' conduct "revolting."

"Until the leaders of the republican party not only fail to support, but give their active opposition to me like Sen. Norris," Lucas said, "they are not doing their full duty to the party which has come down to us from Lincoln."

It is charged against Lucas that his selection of campaign literature against Norris in the campaign included leaflets used in 1928 by the Ku Klux Klan against Smith. Lucas, a handsome Kentuckian, admitted his action when questioned by the Nye campaign funds committee Saturday. He assumed personal responsibility and absolved the national committee of knowledge of the anti-Norris literature. He said Norris was more of a democrat than a republican.

Washington, Dec. 22. — President Hoover and those most closely associated with him at the White House intend to take no cognizance of nor part in the controversy over the standing of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska in the republican party, it was learned at the White House today.

Norris was denounced Saturday before the Nye primary investigating committee by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee as untrue to his party.

The senator answered in the senate later in the way with a denunciation of Lucas and today the situation was such that it seemed either Norris might be read out of the party or Lucas forced to resign.

Nye announced today he had called a meeting of his committee for 3 P. M. to go into Lucas' banking transactions in connection with the anti-Norris campaign.

Nye said bankers would be subpoenaed to testify concerning the $4,000 Lucas said he had borrowed on his own note to pay for printing the propaganda pamphlets distributed in Nebraska and elsewhere during the campaign.

American Born Widow Faces Italian Court

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Rome, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Lillian De Bosis, American born widow of the Italian poet, went on trial at 3:07 p. m. today before a special tribunal for defense of the state, charged with anti-fascist activities.

The 62-year-old American woman, who was tried as co-defendant with another woman and five men, was liable to a sentence of from 15 to 30 years, but it was expected her ill health would cause the tribunal to be lenient.

Fifteen hundred cattle were killed when a large and fertile region was covered with lava and red hot gravel.

Thousands of refugees arriving at the larger towns said it was impossible to penetrate into the volcanic area because of the continuous rain of hot ashes.

JURY FINDS SHEPARD GUILTY SLAYING WIFE

VERDICT CARRIES SENTENCE OF LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR DEFENDANT

JURY RECOMMENDED AGAINST CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

By REX R. GOAD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Kansas, Dec. 22. — A jury in federal district court here today found Maj. Charles A. Shepard guilty of murdering his wife, Zenana Shepard, by administering poison to her.

The verdict carried a sentence of life imprisonment, as the jury recommended against capital punishment.

The jury received the case at 3 P. M. Saturday and had debated the officer's fate continuously since that time, with the exception of intervals for rest and food.

Maj. Shepard stood with shoulders erect as the jury made its report. The verdict read:

"We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, but without capital punishment."

The indictment against Maj. Shepard charged first degree murder, punishable by death.

The recommendation against capital punishment makes a life sentence mandatory.

The jury went out to lunch at noon today apparently no nearer a verdict than it was when it resumed its deliberations this morning.

It returned to the federal building at 1 P. M. and shortly afterwards word spread through the court room that a verdict had been reached.

Federal Judge Hopkins, Major Shepard and attorneys in the case were summoned hastily.

The jury waited with its verdict for some time before all the attorneys could reach the court room. Some of them were staying with Maj. Shepard at a hotel in Kansas City, Mo.

Maj. Shepard walked into the court room in company with his attorney and the verdict was read immediately.

Judge Hopkins asked the defense lawyers if they wanted the jury polled. They replied they did.

Each juror's name then was called and he was asked if the verdict read to the court was his verdict. Each replied:

"It is."

Major Shepard, dressed in a light gray suit, received the verdict with barely hte batting of an eye.

His face, however, showed plainly the strain of the trial and those who saw him receive the verdict noted an expression almsot of relief, as if he were glad the ordeal was over.

Defense attorneys immediately served notice of appeal from the conviction.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 22. — The jury considering the evidence against Charles A. Shepard, charged with murdering his wife, still was deadlocked when it recessed for lunch today.

The major's attorneys, however, made vigorous denial of a report that he had expressed deep bitterness at the delay and resentment against Judge Richard J. Hopkins and government prosecutors.

There were many unverified rumors concerning the balloting by the jury, none of which were verificable. The most recent report was that the jury stood 7 to 5 for acquittal.

It was ascertained that two of the jurors were close acquaintances of Miss Clara Brown, a nurse who attended Mrs. Shepard during her last illness and testified that she told her "Major Shepard has poisoned me." Defense attorneys in final argument spoke with bitterness against Miss Brown.

PRISONER LOCKS SHERIFF IN JAIL AND THEN ESCAPES

Morris, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Sheriff J. S. Ryan went out looking today for the prisoner who locked him in his jail and escaped.

When Sheriff Ryan brought a meal to Lawrence Englehardt, who had been in jail since September, Englehardt stepped out of his cell and locked the sheriff in behind him.

Ryan was locked in the cell for more than 20 minutes before he was released.

Lindy Turns Fire Fighter

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh using a fire extinguisher to quell the flames that came from his airplane at Baltimore. Mrs. Lindbergh was seated at the controls with field mechanics trying to start the motor when gasoline around the engine caught fire and started to spread to the wings of the monoplane. All the while Mrs. Lindbergh remained inside the pilot's cockpit.

GROCER RESENTS A HOLDUP; SHOOTS 1, HOLDS OTHER BANDIT

Chicago, Dec. 22—(U.P.)—Two men with pistols in their hands walked into John Mickus' grocery store last night. Five minutes later Mrs. Mickus gave this message to police by telephone:

"Hurry over. My husband just shot one bandit and he's sitting on another one."

The grocer refused to tell how he did it. He was chagrined because the bandit he shot managed to limp away and escape.

A. F. OF L. FAVORS 'RESERVE FUNDS' BY EMPLOYERS

ALSO BY STATE AND GOVERNMENT AGENCIES TO TIDE OVER SLACK TIMES

McGRADY PLAN IF CARRIED OUT WILL BENEFIT THE WORKERS

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — The American Federation of Labor, according to Edward P. McGrady, its general organizer and legislative representative, will go on record next month as supporting establishment of "reserve funds" by employers, state and government agencies for the benefit of workers in slack times.

If McGrady's plan, announced by him last night, is carried out, it will be a reversal of the A. F. of L.'s previous position against unemployment insurance. McGrady said complete details of the plan would be announced January 12 at the federation's quarterly executive council meeting at Miami.

The federation's scheme, to be presented in a congressional bill, calls for an unemployment fund to be raised in all industrial plants through contributions by employers and the government. The government's share probably would be 50 per cent and would be raised from income and inheritance taxes.

When McGrady was asked whether the scheme actually meant unemployment insurance, he answered, "You may call it that."

"The wage earner," McGrady told the labor institute forum, "has the same right to security of employment that the stockholder has to the security of dividend payments. Both make investments in the industry. Just as reserves are accumulated to secure dividends to the stockholders, there should also be guarantees that part of these reserves would be set aside to protect the workers when slack times come to that industry."

WHOLE THEORY OF 18TH AMENDMENT IS ATTACKED

PRES. HOPKINS OF DARTMOUTH COLLEGE DECLARES IT "PERNICIOUS"

EDUCATOR, HOWEVER, DOES NOT SUGGEST ANY SPECIFIC SUBSTITUTE

Hanover, N. H., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Pres. Ernest Martin Hopkins of Dartmouth college today applied the adjective "pernicious" to "the whole theory of the 18th amendment."

The educator did not suggest any specific substitute for the present national prohibition law, but he did express an unqualified conviction that prohibition in its current form was a failure and offered no hope even of ultimate success.

Dr. Hopkins, who for years had refused to declare publicly his attitude toward the 18th amendment, broke his silence in an 800-word letter to the National Temperance Council, composed of the principal officers of all national temperance organizations. The council had invited him to express his views.

In his letter, Dr. Hopkins said he could not understand how "individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for building up a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or to support the theory or the practice of the 18th amendment as defined in current legislation."

He could not see, he said, that "advantage has accrued to anybody, except possibly to industrial efficiency, in the enactment of the amendment and in the mass of legislation which has followed in its trail."

Hollywood, Dec. 22—(U.P.)—Leni Stengel, German film actress, and Boris Asarkh-Ingster, Russian picture director, will be married here Wednesday. Both are 27.

REVELATIONS OF LUCAS FOLLOW CLOSELY UPSET WITH CLAUDIUS HUSTON

Washington, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The republican party, torn by new discords, faced today the apparent necessity of breaking poenly with Senator George W. Norris or ejecting from its councils its newly selected executive director, Robert H. Lucas.

The fact that the decision must be made in the midst of national attention given to revelations of Lucas' efforts against Norris in the Nebraska campaign makes it all the more difficult for the party which emerged only recently from a somewhat similar experience with Claudius Huston, former national chairman. In that case Huston resigned but there has been no indication yet of a willingness to sacrifice Lucas.

There has been no secret to the antipathy of regular republicans to Norris, who bolted the party in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith. But until now the feeling has been kept more or less from public view. Now the whole thing has been forced into the open.

Lucas stated his side of the issue in a statement yesterday. He apparently wants to hold his job and is fighting against senate demands for his resignation. With this determination, he came out flatly with a demand that Norris be read out of his party. The statement, issued through the republican national committee, would indicate possible administration support of the view, as well as the sympathy of such republican leaders as Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, committee chairman, and Senate Floor Leader James E. Watson of Indiana.

The situation casts these regular republicans in open opposition to the insurgent element of the party.

Following the Huston difficulties, the more recent flareup over prohibition within the republican ranks and the party's difficulties in the present congress. The party seemed face to face with serious difficulties which might even go to the length of the splits of 1912 and 1924. The November elections, with their republican losses, have not helped the party's morale.

"Until the leaders of the republican party not only fail to support, but give their active opposition to me like Sen. Norris," Lucas said, "they are not doing their full duty to the party which has come down to us from Lincoln."

It is charged against Lucas that his selection of campaign literature against Norris in the campaign included leaflets used in 1928 by the Ku Klux Klan against Smith. Lucas, a handsome Kentuckian, admitted his action when questioned by the Nye campaign funds committee Saturday. He assumed personal responsibility and absolved the national committee of knowledge of the anti-Norris literature. He said Norris was more of a democrat than a republican.

Washington, Dec. 22. — President Hoover and those most closely associated with him at the White House intend to take no cognizance of nor part in the controversy over the standing of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska in the republican party, it was learned at the White House today.

Norris was denounced Saturday before the Nye primary investigating committee by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the republican national committee as untrue to his party.

The senator answered in the senate later in the way with a denunciation of Lucas and today the situation was such that it seemed either Norris might be read out of the party or Lucas forced to resign.

Nye announced today he had called a meeting of his committee for 3 P. M. to go into Lucas' banking transactions in connection with the anti-Norris campaign.

Nye said bankers would be subpoenaed to testify concerning the $4,000 Lucas said he had borrowed on his own note to pay for printing the propaganda pamphlets distributed in Nebraska and elsewhere during the campaign.

American Born Widow Faces Italian Court

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Rome, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Lillian De Bosis, American born widow of the Italian poet, went on trial at 3:07 p. m. today before a special tribunal for defense of the state, charged with anti-fascist activities.

The 62-year-old American woman, who was tried as co-defendant with another woman and five men, was liable to a sentence of from 15 to 30 years, but it was expected her ill health would cause the tribunal to be lenient.

the MATE

Elegance and beauty are characteristic of this exquisitely designed ultra-performing radio receiver. The stately posts, the substantial stretchers, the beautiful front of CROSLEY REPWOOD, which is the exact reproduction of a costly wood carving, bring new charm into your home. The satisfaction and pride of owning such an instrument is worth twice the price asked for this exquisite member of the Companionship Series. The MATE requires three Screen Grid tubes type-24, one type-45 and one type-80. The exceptionally low price makes the MATE especially desirable.

The rule that makes delicious doughnuts is the rule in roasting HILLS BROS COFFEE

By COOKING doughnuts a few at a time in the hot fat, every one is cooked and browned evenly. By roasting coffee a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk, Hills Bros. roast every berry of their fine blend evenly. No other roasting process can develop the flavor Hills Bros.' continuous process—Controlled Roasting—does.

We appreciate his loyal interest and earnest co-operation with the Board in the conduct of the affairs of Crow Wing county.

We feel that Mr. Mahlum should share in the credit due the administration for successfully meeting the county's obligations and paying its bonded indebtedness before maturity.

We thank him for his untiring efforts during his many years as custodian of the court house and grounds, mentioning especially the floral setting, which has attracted much attention and favorable comment.

We assure Mr. Mahlum of our sincere good wishes in whatever he undertakes in the future, and hope that he and his family will continue to maintain their home and interest in Crow Wing county.

Chairman.

The rule that makes delicious doughnuts is the rule in roasting HILLS BROS COFFEE

BY COOKING doughnuts a few at a time in the hot fat, every one is cooked and browned evenly. By roasting coffee a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk, Hills Bros. roast every berry of their fine blend evenly. No other roasting process can develop the flavor Hills Bros.' continuous process—Controlled Roasting—does.

Fresh from the original vacuum pack. Easily opened with the key. Look for the Arab on the can.

Checking Up On 1930

1930 has not been such a bad year. The Craddick Service, Inc., of Minneapolis, has been checking up and admits we have all seen worse, 1917-1918 for instance. It's all in the way we look at things. All depends on how comparisons are based. The company has checked up a little on 1930 and finds this:

A dollar will buy more than a year ago.
Our jobs look better and more important.
Good customers are appreciated.
We enjoy putting in a full day's work.
Wives are getting over the "gimmes."
College students are working more and playing less.
Kollege-Kut clothes have practically disappeared.
Girls look more girlish—and not so flapperish.
Children are seeing more of their parents 'round home.
Bootleggers are finding sales and collections tougher.
Prohibition isn't the chief topic of conversation.
Last season's clothes are a badge of honorable thrift (provided you haven't donated them to poor relief).
Church attendance is on the up-up.
Good stocks are worth the market.
The old savings account has taken on new life.
Taxes are going to get more public thought and interest.
Tires and gasoline are cheap.
Road houses and night clubs are on a decline.
Bridge prizes are getting more practical.
New Year's Eve will be quieter and saner.
Interest still works on Sundays and holidays.
Bankers are more humble, but are better bankers.
When business is on its back—it has to look up.
Experience is a dear teacher—and we're all wiser.

So, 1930 may, in time prove to have been a better year than we want to admit while we are still in it.

And the year ahead? Well, we are optimistic. We're betting on the people of this good old U. S. A. to go into 1931 fighting—and to give Old Man Depression a good licking. It's a big job—but it will be done!

DURING winter the Brainerd Fire Department copes with many chimney fires. Where the department is able to make a fast run, fire damage is kept at a minimum figure. However, should chimney fires spread, damage inevitably results to the roof and may spread to the interior.

There is also the possibility of accidents involving firemen and equipment while operating on frozen, slippery streets and this adds further costs.

Wadena Turkey Crop Large

THE Wadena Pioneer Journal mentions the large shipments of turkeys made from Wadena county. Up to December 18, 36 cars of dressed poultry had been sent to eastern markets. Each car averaged around 20,000 pounds. The cash value of the shipments was about $180,000.

The greater share of these turkeys came from an area ten or more miles from Wadena. Turkeys are more easily raised than is popularly supposed and even in seasons when the market is low the producer gets adequate returns from his turkey flock to make the raising of such a flock profitable.

Conditions in Crow Wing county are the same as Wadena county and more attention should be paid to turkey raising in our home county. Aitkin county has many turkey flocks. Crow Wing county, situated between Aitkin and Wadena counties, does not seem to have given the industry much encouragement or support, in spite of the fact that turkey raising is no more difficult here than in the counties named.

LIFE insurance is the income that outlives a man.

Life insurance is a protection. It is not bought for pecuniary gain. As a shelter for the helpless, it has no equal and no substitutes. The uncertainty of life and the certainty of death are problems which face every man.

It is the irony of fate that those who regard life insurance most highly, are barred because of physical disability from gaining such protection.

Drug Stores Serving Lunches

DRUG stores in the state will have to forego serving of lunches and similar sidelines if legislation proposed by Leslie Sinton and Fred C. Holst, representatives of the union of hotel and restaurant employees, is adopted by the 1931 legislature.

Ten bills mapped out to improve the working condition in hotels and restaurants and raise the standards of the catering business, its supporters said, will be introduced.

When Home Cooking is Appreciated

WHEN the boys and girls come trooping home from the schools, colleges and universities, one finds that their appreciation of home cooking has been whetted to a degree never before realized. Boarding houses, restaurants and fraternity houses can never set up a meal such as Mother does at home. There is no limit to the good things at home, which are never rightly appreciated until one gets away from home.

THERE is nothing equal to the self-respect that one enjoys from having provided for his loved ones.

SCIENCE IS NOW SHOWING THE WAY

This is an age of science. We bow to its achievements and accept its word as law.

Commanding as it does such great respect, it is no wonder that research in science is being done on a huge scale. Thousands of workers in laboratories are contributing their bit, and new laboratories for further work are being constructed all over the world.

Out of this effort to explain the innermost workings of nature come reports now and then of a new discovery. We read that artificial sunlight cures rickets in children, or that a new radio tube vastly improves radio reception.

Strange But True

These contributions are accepted. They are intimately connected with our daily lives. But what about the less practical achievements? When an Einstein tells us that space is warped, or a Duc De Broglie tells us that every moving body—even an automobile—has a wave associated with it, what does that mean?

It is difficult to see how these abstract theories have anything to do with our health and happiness. They are too complicated to understand. Often they seem fantastic.

Looking back at the history of science, however, one sees that it is just such ideas which have frequently lead to the most important practical applications. A classic example is James C. Maxwell's theory of light, which was the starting point from which developed the experiments that made radio possible.

Many famous men contributed to the developments which followed the theory, of course, but it was Maxwell's original ideas which made them possible. And yet his deduction was made on the basis of the similarity of two complicated mathematical equations appearing in the theory.

So, even though we may secretly feel that it is mostly twaddle, let us reserve judgment about the work of the theoretical scientists. They may be revolutionizing the world under our very noses without our realizing it.

Maitland Pleads Guilty to Charge of Drunkenness

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Lieut. Lester Maitland, Pacific flier, today surprised the court martial organized to try him on charges of drunkenness by pleading guilty. The move caught the government by surprise and after two witnesses had testified, the prosecutors obtained a recess to consider their procedure.

Christmas to Be Lonely Day at New City Jail in St. Paul

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Christmas is going to be a pretty lonely day at the new city jail—for the jailers.

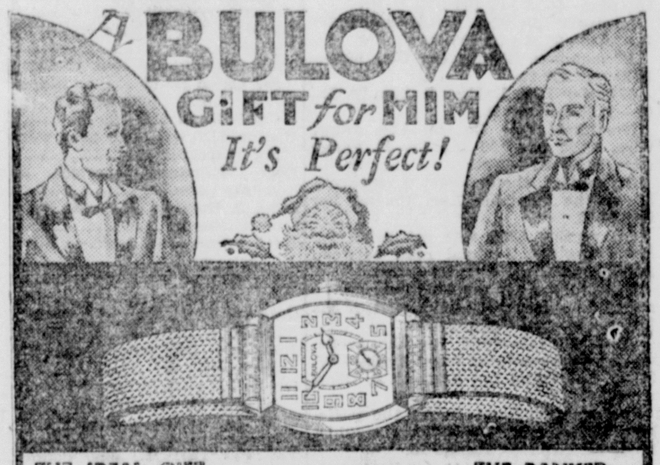

Chief of Police Thomas A. Brown said there probably would be about 30 prisoners confined on Christmas morning, but he will release most of them, confined on minor offenses, in time for them to observe the day with their families.

Jailers and the remaining prisoners will feast on turkey, cranberry sauce, dressing, mashed potatoes, pumpkin pie and coffee.

CAPTAIN AMMEL NOW AT NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Captain Roy W. Ammel of Chicago, who was injured when his plane crashed on an attempted non-stop flight from Panama to Chicago, arrived on the United Fruit liner Abangarez yesterday. He announced he would attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Berlin next spring. Captain Ammel formerly lived at Moorhead, Minn.

SCIENCE IS NOW SHOWING THE WAY

This is an age of science. We bow to its achievements and accept its word as law.

Commanding as it does such great respect, it is no wonder that research in science is being done on a huge scale. Thousands of workers in laboratories are contributing their bit, and new laboratories for further work are being constructed all over the world.

Out of this effort to explain the innermost workings of nature come reports now and then of a new discovery. We read that artificial sunlight cures rickets in children, or that a new radio tube vastly improves radio reception.

Strange But True

These contributions are accepted. They are intimately connected with our daily lives. But what about the less practical achievements? When an Einstein tells us that space is warped, or a Duc De Broglie tells us that every moving body—even an automobile—has a wave associated with it, what does that mean?

It is difficult to see how these abstract theories have anything to do with our health and happiness. They are too complicated to understand. Often they seem fantastic.

Looking back at the history of science, however, one sees that it is just such ideas which have frequently lead to the most important practical applications. A classic example is James C. Maxwell's theory of light, which was the starting point from which developed the experiments that made radio possible.

Many famous men contributed to the developments which followed the theory, of course, but it was Maxwell's original ideas which made them possible. And yet his deduction was made on the basis of the similarity of two complicated mathematical equations appearing in the theory.

So, even though we may secretly feel that it is mostly twaddle, let us reserve judgment about the work of the theoretical scientists. They may be revolutionizing the world under our very noses without our realizing it.

Maitland Pleads Guilty to Charge of Drunkenness

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Lieut. Lester Maitland, Pacific flier, today surprised the court martial organized to try him on charges of drunkenness by pleading guilty. The move caught the government by surprise and after two witnesses had testified, the prosecutors obtained a recess to consider their procedure.

Christmas to Be Lonely Day at New City Jail in St. Paul

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Christmas is going to be a pretty lonely day at the new city jail—for the jailers.

Chief of Police Thomas A. Brown said there probably would be about 30 prisoners confined on Christmas morning, but he will release most of them, confined on minor offenses, in time for them to observe the day with their families.

Jailers and the remaining prisoners will feast on turkey, cranberry sauce, dressing, mashed potatoes, pumpkin pie and coffee.

ENGBRETSON, WISE SCORE HEAVILY TO GIVE CITY WIN

RUSSELL'S CRASH FALLS FOR 40-37 IN OPENING TILT

BRAINERD GOES INTO 18-POINT LEAD BUT DROPS ADVANTAGE IN SECOND HALF

MOLSTAD AND FOSTER MAKE INITIAL APPEARANCES WITH INDEPENDENT SQUAD

Wally Engbretson and Frank Wise teamed up as scoring aces to give the Russell Creamery Co. quintet a 40 to 37 win over Little Falls at the Falls high school Sunday afternoon in the first game of the season for the local independents. The former tallied 16 points and the latter 12.

Brainerd got off to an 18-point lead in the first ten minutes of play by using a fast passing attack, working in under the basket for short shots.

Little Falls came back strong for the rest of the game to play the creamery team on better than even terms. With two minutes to go, Brainerd stalled, holding the ball in its possession by the clever dribbling of Wise, Engbretson and Gabiou.

Harold Molstad and Benny Foster made their first appearances in independent circles, each turning in great games.

The box score:

Russell's Creamery	Fg.	Ft.	Pf.	Tp.
Engbretson, lf.	8	0	1	16
Wise, rf.	5	2	1	12
Molstad, c.	3	0	0	6

ALUMNI FAVORED TO BEAT VARSITY

Brainerd Alumni, all veterans of the game, were favored today to defeat the varsity in the annual high school basketball tilt which is scheduled for tomorrow evening, starting at 8 o'clock at the E. H. S. gym.

A number of the boys seeing action on the alumni squad will be prepared by having practiced and played with the Brainerd Independents against Little Falls yesterday.

Since proceeds of the game will be turned over to the fund used for promoting hockey among the students and since the fans have the privilege of witnessing former and present favorites on the B. H. S. squad, a large following is expected.

NEW GOLF BALL, BIGGER, LIGHTER, SOON OFFICIAL

Earl Mastro, Chicago Boxer, Recovering from Operation

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Earl Mastro, Chicago boxer, was recovering today from an emergency abdominal operation performed here yesterday morning. Doctors said the ailment was caused during a recent fight with Fidel La Barba in Chicago.

Mastro's disorders were aggravated during a four-round bout with Leo Domingo in San Francisco Friday night. The fight was stopped when Momingo was helpless, and Mastro returned here, apparently in good condition.

He will be out of the ring for at least three months, Manager Art Winch said.

LEVINSKY IN BREAK WITH HIS MANAGER

PRODUCE BIRTH CERTIFICATE THAT LEVINSKY IS 20 AND NOT 23 YEARS OLD

Chicago, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — Contracts between King Levinsky, Chicago light heavyweight slugger, and his manager, Al Miller, have been voided by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The break between Levinsky and Miller was instituted by the fighter's relatives who were dissatisfied with financial arrangements between the two. They succeeded in having the contract voided after producing a birth certificate to show Levinsky is 20 years of age instead of 23, as he previously claimed.

Levinsky advanced from a comparatively unknown preliminary boy to a high priced performer in less than four months under Miller's guidance. Previous to his connection with Miller, Levinsky never earned more than $100 for a bout and on one occasion was suspended by the commission for running out of the ring during a fight.

In his last four starts Levinsky has knocked out Leo Lomski and Tom Kirby, won a decision over Jimmy Slattery and lost to Tommy Loughran. He was paid $3,000 for the Lomski bout and $11,000 for the Loughran fight.

HAS APPROVAL OF PROMINENT PLAYERS POLLED

NEW BALL IS 1.68 INCHES IN DIAMETER, 1.55 OUNCES IN WEIGHT

OFFICIAL JANUARY 1, USED IN PASADENA $4,000 OPEN TOURNEY LAST WEEK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 22.—The new golf ball—bigger and lighter—has the approval of prominent players polled today by the United Press after they had played with it in a major tournament.

Although the new ball—1.68 inches in diameter and 1.55 ounces in weight—does not become official until January 1, it was used in the Pasadena $4,000 open tournament which ended Sunday. The old ball was 1.62 inches in diameter and 1.62 in weight.

Despite the fact that scores were generally higher than was the case in the same tournament last year over the identical course, the new ball was found satisfactory by practically all the prominent players.

Tony Manero, little Elmsford, N. Y., professional, won first prize of $1,000 with a 72-hole total of 287, three strokes over par and seven strokes more than the figure Horton Smith won with in 1929.

Last year fourteen players shot 290 or under, whereas this year only four were within 290. Most of the professionals agreed that the sudden change from the heavier ball to the lighter one was the main cause of the higher scores.

Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Calif., finished second with 289, followed by Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., and Al Espinosa, Chicago, who tied for third place. Each scored 290.

Tied for fifth place were Ray Mangrum, Dallas, Texas, Tommy Armour, Detroit, Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Willie Hunter, Montebello Park, Cal., each with 291.

Comment of leading golfers on the new ball obtained by the United Press follows:

Tony Manero: "I prefer the new ball to the old one. If weather conditions are good I think the scores will be just as low as with the old ball as soon as everybody gets used to the change. In bad weather the scores may run higher."

Craig Wood: "I like the new ball except for putting. It seems to float around the cup. Against the wind, I believe there will be a big difference because of the difference in weight."

Horton Smith: "I don't find a great deal of difference. The new ball does not fall into the cup as well as the old one did."

Johnny Dawson: "The new ball sits up pretty on the fairway, is easier to play out of a sand trap, easier to pitch to the greens and stops quicker. I think everyone will have to use heavier putters than formerly, and I expect the average players will have a little more trouble with it."

Walter Hagen: "There's not enough difference to matter in the two balls. The scores in this year's tournament were higher, I think, because we hadn't had as much competition as we had had at this time a year ago. I like the new ball better."

Al Espinosa: "The new ball is a marvelous putting ball, I think. You have to hit it right, but it will go in if hit properly. I think we will have to use longer clubs on all shots."

NOTRE DAME'S 1931 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE CARRIES NINE GAMES

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Notre Dame's 1931 football schedule will be limited to nine games—one less than was played during 1930. All of the 1930 opponents except Southern Methodist have been retained with the schedule as follows:

Oct. 3, Indiana at Bloomington; Oct. 10, Northwestern at Soldier Field, Chicago; Oct. 17, Drake at South Bend; Oct. 24, Pittsburgh at South Bend; Oct. 31, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh; Nov. 7, Pennsylvania at South Bend; Nov. 14, Navy at Baltimore; Nov. 21, Southern California at South Bend; Nov. 28, Army at New York.

MAJOR LEAGUES' DRAFT PLAN IS GAINING FAVOR

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION VOTES FAVORABLY, OTHER MINORS MAY FOLLOW

Chicago, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — Action of the American Association in voting to accept the major leagues' draft plan was believed today to have made it almost certain that the Pacific Coast and International Leagues would follow suit, ending warfare between the majors and minors.

The Pacific Coast and International Leagues have not announced whether they also will surrender, but the loss of the American Association's support was regarded as an important strategic move. The association's capitulation was the first break in the battle.

Five of the American Association's eight clubs voted in favor of yielding to the major league proposal, under which the majors agree not to draft any player until he has had four years of minor league experience, and to pay a minimum price of $7,500 for each player selected. College players were excepted from the four-year rule.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the Association, who announced the vote on the draft Saturday, said two members of the league voted against the draft plan, while another club had not announced its attitude.

GANG WARFARE FLAMES IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Two men were dead and a woman was dying today as the result of the latest outbreak of gang warfare in New York and Long Island.

The woman was Mrs. Eugenia Esposito, 22, of Brooklyn, who was shot down by a blast of machine gun bullets from a speeding automobile as she was on her way to church yesterday.

MILLERS WIN IN THIRD PERIOD

COME FROM BEHIND TO NOSE OUT HORNETS; SHAMROCKS TAKE FLIERS, 10 TO 1

Duluth, Dec. 22.—The Minneapolis Millers came from behind to score a flashing 3 to 2 victory over Duluth in the A. H. L. here Sunday, putting them two points from the top.

The second period found the Hornets in possession of the puck most of the time. Going into the third period at the low end of a 2 to 1 count, the Millers bulged the twine for two quick goals.

Chicago, Dec. 22. — The Chicago Shamrocks went on a scoring rampage here Sunday night, chalking up a 10 to 1 score against the St. Louis Fliers in a A. H. L. game.

CONFESSED NEGRO SLAYER IN JAIL

KEPT AT KANSAS CITY, MO., TO AVOID POSSIBLE MOB AT MARYLAND

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Raymond Gunn, confessed negro slayer of Miss Velma Colter, Maryville, Mo., school teacher, was held in jail here today, safe from the threat of mobs which previously had tried to take him from the sheriff who guarded him.

Gunn was brought here last night from St. Joseph, in Buchanan county at the order of Sheriff John Roach, who feared another attempt, similar to that made early Sunday, might occur. Sunday morning a mob of nearly four hundred persons assembled before the county jail at St. Joseph and demanded the prisoner be released to them.

Sheriff Roach shouted his refusal through the barred steel door of the jail, and then called police and firemen to aid him. The 35th tank corps, stationed at St. Joseph, also was called out, but, although no concerted attack materialized, it was hours before the mob dispersed.

Perception and Realism

That Pro Golf Crisis

By HARDIN BURNLEY

© 1930, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

AMIABLE and astute "Bob" Harlow, long the managerial pal of Walter Hagan and famed for years as the "Tex Rickard of Golf," is facing the business crisis of his career with the equanimity of Horton Smith making a characteristically graceful swing.

Sir Robert is tournament manager of the American Professional Golfers' Association and he is at economic loggerheads with several of the clubs in the Far West that usually stage prize events during the annual tour of the pros which started with the Salt Lake City open a few weeks ago. The pith of the trouble is the refusal of certain clubs to deduct 10 per cent from the prizes won by P. G. A. members and forward the same to P. G. A. headquarters at Chicago.

For several years it has been the custom of P. G. A. members to "kick in" 10 per cent of their prizes to the P. G. A. fund. Most of the money-winners did this cheerfully enough, but some refused to do so and others simply reneged. Hence Harlow's plan to collect that "10" at its club sources. On legal and other grounds, some of the clubs declared they had no right to make such deductions and their refusals were so fiery that two California tournaments were canceled early this month (the $3,500 Long Beach and $1,500 Glendale opens). Then the $7,500 Catalina annual was dropped when its promoters received but two entries, evincing, so they said, "too much lack of interest."

However, at this writing, the pros can still shoot at the $4,000 Pasadena, the $10,000 Los Angeles, and the $25,000 Agua Caliente prizes; which prospects indicate that golf's money players need not huckster unemployment apples, though the golden variety will not be as plentiful as in 1929-30.

Meanwhile, Harlow's critics are howling, hooting and hissing almost as vociferously as the mob not "in" on Carnera have been doing in fight circles. Why, after this "percenting" fuss, they may call Bob the "Joe Jacobs of Golf"—they're that hot over the situation! However, he's nonchalant!

ENGBRETSON, WISE SCORE HEAVILY TO GIVE CITY WIN

RUSSELL'S CRASH FALLS FOR 40-37 IN OPENING TILT

BRAINERD GOES INTO 18-POINT LEAD BUT DROPS ADVANTAGE IN SECOND HALF

MOLSTAD AND FOSTER MAKE INITIAL APPEARANCES WITH INDEPENDENT SQUAD

Wally Engbretson and Frank Wise teamed up as scoring aces to give the Russell Creamery Co. quintet a 40 to 37 win over Little Falls at the Falls high school Sunday afternoon in the first game of the season for the local independents. The former tallied 16 points and the latter 12.

Brainerd got off to an 18-point lead in the first ten minutes of play by using a fast passing attack, working in under the basket for short shots.

Little Falls came back strong for the rest of the game to play the creamery team on better than even terms. With two minutes to go, Brainerd stalled, holding the ball in its possession by the clever dribbling of Wise, Engbretson and Gabiou.

The box score:

Russell's Creamery	Fg.	Ft.	Pf.	Tp.
Engbretson, lf.	6	0	1	16

ALUMNI FAVORED TO BEAT VARSITY

Brainerd Alumni, all veterans of the game, were favored today to defeat the varsity in the annual high school basketball tilt which is scheduled for tomorrow evening, starting at 8 o'clock at the E. H. S. gym.

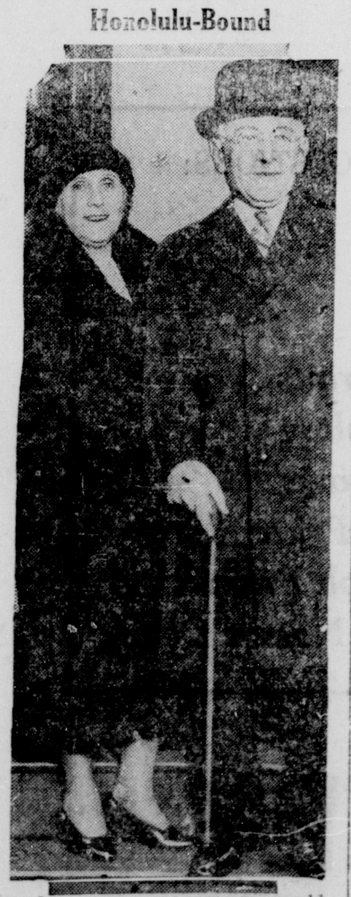

A number of the boys seeing action on the alumni squad will be prepared by having practiced and played with the Brainerd Independents against Little Falls yesterday.

Since proceeds of the game will be turned over to the fund used for promoting hockey among the students and since the fans have the privilege of witnessing former and present favorites on the B. H. S. squad, a large following is expected.

NEW GOLF BALL, BIGGER, LIGHTER, SOON OFFICIAL

Earl Mastro, Chicago Boxer, Recovering from Operation

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Earl Mastro, Chicago boxer, was recovering today from an emergency abdominal operation performed here yesterday morning. Doctors said the ailment was caused during a recent fight with Fidel La Barba in Chicago.

Mastro's disorders were aggravated during a four-round bout with Leo Domingo in San Francisco Friday night. The fight was stopped when Momingo was helpless, and Mastro returned here, apparently in good condition.

He will be out of the ring for at least three months, Manager Art Winch said.

LEVINSKY IN BREAK WITH HIS MANAGER

PRODUCE BIRTH CERTIFICATE THAT LEVINSKY IS 20 AND NOT 23 YEARS OLD

Chicago, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — Contracts between King Levinsky, Chicago light heavyweight slugger, and his manager, Al Miller, have been voided by the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The break between Levinsky and Miller was instituted by the fighter's relatives who were dissatisfied with financial arrangements between the two. They succeeded in having the contract voided after producing a birth certificate to show Levinsky is 20 years of age instead of 23, as he previously claimed.

Levinsky advanced from a comparatively unknown preliminary boy to a high priced performer in less than four months under Miller's guidance. Previous to his connection with Miller, Levinsky never earned more than $100 for a bout and on one occasion was suspended by the commission for running out of the ring during a fight.

In his last four starts Levinsky has knocked out Leo Lomski and Tom Kirby, won a decision over Jimmy Slattery and lost to Tommy Loughran. He was paid $3,000 for the Lomski bout and $11,000 for the Loughran fight.

HAS APPROVAL OF PROMINENT PLAYERS POLLED

NEW BALL IS 1.68 INCHES IN DIAMETER, 1.55 OUNCES IN WEIGHT

OFFICIAL JANUARY 1, USED IN PASADENA $4,000 OPEN TOURNEY LAST WEEK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 22.—The new golf ball—bigger and lighter—has the approval of prominent players polled today by the United Press after they had played with it in a major tournament.

Although the new ball—1.68 inches in diameter and 1.55 ounces in weight—does not become official until January 1, it was used in the Pasadena $4,000 open tournament which ended Sunday. The old ball was 1.62 inches in diameter and 1.62 in weight.

Despite the fact that scores were generally higher than was the case in the same tournament last year over the identical course, the new ball was found satisfactory by practically all the prominent players.

Tony Manero, little Elmsford, N. Y., professional, won first prize of $1,000 with a 72-hole total of 287, three strokes over par and seven strokes more than the figure Horton Smith won with in 1929.

Last year fourteen players shot 290 or under, whereas this year only four were within 290. Most of the professionals agreed that the sudden change from the heavier ball to the lighter one was the main cause of the higher scores.

Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Calif., finished second with 289, followed by Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., and Al Espinosa, Chicago, who tied for third place. Each scored 290.

Tied for fifth place were Ray Mangrum, Dallas, Texas, Tommy Armour, Detroit, Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Willie Hunter, Montebello Park, Cal., each with 291.

Tony Manero: "I prefer the new ball to the old one. If weather conditions are good I think the scores will be just as low as with the old ball as soon as everybody gets used to the change. In bad weather the scores may run higher."

Craig Wood: "I like the new ball except for putting. It seems to float around the cup. Against the wind, I believe there will be a big difference because of the difference in weight."

Horton Smith: "I don't find a great deal of difference. The new ball does not fall into the cup as well as the old one did."

Johnny Dawson: "The new ball sits up pretty on the fairway, is easier to play out of a sand trap, easier to pitch to the greens and stops quicker. I think everyone will have to use heavier putters than formerly, and I expect the average players will have a little more trouble with it."

Walter Hagen: "There's not enough difference to matter in the two balls. The scores in this year's tournament were higher, I think, because we hadn't had as much competition as we had had at this time a year ago. I like the new ball better."

Al Espinosa: "The new ball is a marvelous putting ball, I think. You have to hit it right, but it will go in if hit properly. I think we will have to use longer clubs on all shots."

MAJOR LEAGUES' DRAFT PLAN IS GAINING FAVOR

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION VOTES FAVORABLY, OTHER MINORS MAY FOLLOW

Chicago, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — Action of the American Association in voting to accept the major leagues' draft plan was believed today to have made it almost certain that the Pacific Coast and International Leagues would follow suit, ending warfare between the majors and minors.

The Pacific Coast and International Leagues have not announced whether they also will surrender, but the loss of the American Association's support was regarded as an important strategic move. The association's capitulation was the first break in the battle.

Five of the American Association's eight clubs voted in favor of yielding to the major league proposal, under which the majors agree not to draft any player until he has had four years of minor league experience, and to pay a minimum price of $7,500 for each player selected. College players were excepted from the four-year rule.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the Association, who announced the vote on the draft Saturday, said two members of the league voted against the draft plan, while another club had not announced its attitude.

GANG WARFARE FLAMES IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Two men were dead and a woman was dying today as the result of the latest outbreak of gang warfare in New York and Long Island.

The woman was Mrs. Eugenia Esposito, 22, of Brooklyn, who was shot down by a blast of machine gun bullets from a speeding automobile as she was on her way to church yesterday.

CONFESSED NEGRO SLAYER IN JAIL

KEPT AT KANSAS CITY, MO., TO AVOID POSSIBLE MOB AT MARYLAND

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Raymond Gunn, confessed negro slayer of Miss Velma Colter, Maryville, Mo., school teacher, was held in jail here today, safe from the threat of mobs which previously had tried to take him from the sheriff who guarded him.

Gunn was brought here last night from St. Joseph, in Buchanan county at the order of Sheriff John Roach, who feared another attempt, similar to that made early Sunday, might occur. Sunday morning a mob of nearly four hundred persons assembled before the county jail at St. Joseph and demanded the prisoner be released to them.

Sheriff Roach shouted his refusal through the barred steel door of the jail, and then called police and firemen to aid him. The 35th tank corps, stationed at St. Joseph, also was called out, but, although no concerted attack materialized, it was hours before the mob dispersed.

That Pro Golf Crisis

By HARDIN BURNLEY

© 1930, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

AMIABLE and astute "Bob" Harlow, long the managerial pal of Walter Hagan and famed for years as the "Tex Rickard of Golf," is facing the business crisis of his career with the equanimity of Horton Smith making a characteristically graceful swing.

Sir Robert is tournament manager of the American Professional Golfers' Association and he is at economic loggerheads with several of the clubs in the Far West that usually stage prize events during the annual tour of the pros which started with the Salt Lake City open a few weeks ago. The pith of the trouble is the refusal of certain clubs to deduct 10 per cent from the prizes won by P. G. A. members and forward the same to P. G. A. headquarters at Chicago.

For several years it has been the custom of P. G. A. members to "kick in" 10 per cent of their prizes to the P. G. A. fund. Most of the money-winners did this cheerfully enough, but some refused to do so and others simply reneged. Hence Harlow's plan to collect that "10" at its club sources. On legal and other grounds, some of the clubs declared they had no right to make such deductions and their refusals were so fiery that two California tournaments were canceled early this month (the $3,500 Long Beach and $1,500 Glendale opens). Then the $7,500 Catalina annual was dropped when its promoters received but two entries.

Evincing, so they said, "too much lack of interest."

However, at this writing, the pros can still shoot at the $4,000 Pasadena, the $10,000 Los Angeles, and the $25,000 Agua Caliente prizes; which prospects indicate that golf's money players need not huckster unemployment apples, though the golden variety will not be as plentiful as in 1929-30.

Meanwhile, Harlow's critics are howling, hooting and hissing almost as vociferously as the mob not "in" on Carnera have been doing in fight circles. Why, after this "percenting" fuss, they may call Bob the "Joe Jacobs of Golf"—they're that hot over the situation! However, he's nonchalant!

PROTECTION IS CHILD'S HERITAGE

Mrs. W. H. Gemmell Summarizes Child Welfare Conference at Washington

The following is the summary given by Mrs. W. H. Gemmell of the final session of the Child Welfare Conference which she attended at Washington recently:

Every American child has the right to the following services in its development and protection:

1. Every prospective mother should have suitable information, medical supervision during the prenatal period, competent care at confinement. Every mother should have post- natal medical supervision for herself and child.

2. Every child should receive periodical health examinations before and during the school period including adolescence, by the family physician, or the school or other public physician, and such examination by specialists and such hospital care as its special needs may require.

3. Every child should have regular dental examination and care.

4. Every child should have instruction in the schools in health and in safety from accidents, and every teacher should be trained in health programs.

5. Every child should be protected from communicable diseases to which he might be exposed at home, in school or at play, and protected from impure milk and food.

6. Every child should have proper sleeping rooms, diet, hours of sleep and play, and parents should receive expert information as to the needs of children of various ages as to these questions.

7. Every child should attend a school which has proper seating, lighting, ventilation and sanitation. For younger children, kindergartens and nursery schools should be provided to supplement home care.

8. The school should be so organized as to discover and develop the special abilities of each child, and should assist in vocational guidance for children, like men, succeed by the use of their strongest qualities and special interests.

9. Every child should have some form of religious, moral and character training.

10. Every child has a right to a place to play with adequate facilities therefor.

11. With the expanding domain of the community's responsibilities for children, there should be proper provision for and supervision of recreation an dentertainment.

12. Every child should be protected against labor that stunts growth either physical or mental, that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, of joy and play.

13. Every child who is blind, deaf crippled or otherwise physically handicapped should be given expert study and corrective treatment where there is the possibility of relief, and appropriate development or training. Children with subnormal or abnormal mental conditions should receive adequate study, protection, training and care.

14. Every waif and orphan in need must be supported.

15. Every child is entitled to the feeling that he has a home. The extension of the services in the community should supplement and not supplant parents.

16. Children who habitually fail to meet normal standards of human behavior should be provided special care under the guidance of the schools, the community health or welfare center vision or, if necessary control.

or other agency for continued super-

17. Where the child does not have these services, due to inadequate income of the family, then such service must be provided to him by the community.

18. The rural child should have satisfactory schooling, adequate standard of living, health protection and welfare facilities as the city child.

19. In order that these minimum protections of the health and welfare of children may be everywhere available, there should be a district, county or community organization for health education and welfare, with full-time officials, coordinating with a statewide program which will be responsive to a nation-wide service of general information, statistics and scientific research. This should include:

(a) Trained full time public health officials with public health nurses, sanitary inspection and laboratory workers.

(b) Available hospital beds.

(c) Full-time public welfare services for the relief and aid of children in special need from poverty or misfortune, for the protection of children from abuse, neglect, exploitation or moral hazard.

(d) The development of voluntary organization for children for purpozes of instruction, health and recreation through private effort and benefaction. When possible, existing agencies should be coordinated.

It is the purpose of this Conference to establish the standards by which the efficiency of such services may be tested in the community and to develop the creation of such services. These standards are defined in many particulars in the Reports of the Committees of the Conference. The Conference recommends that the Continuing Committee to be appointed by the President from the Conference shall study points upon which agreement has not been reached, shall develop further standards, shall encourage the establishment of services for children, and report to the members of the Conference through the president.

REPORTS POISON GAS ATTACK ON HOME

Cochran, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—A poison gas attack on him home was reported today by Henry Balduc, farmer near here.

Balduc told Hennepin county sheriff's deputies that the front window of his home was broken in Sunday night and an article believed to be a gas bomb hurled in.

Search of the house was made today for the bomb, but deputy sheriffs were unable to find anything of that nature in or near the house.

Balduck said a similar attack on his home was made about three months ago. He said he had no enemies and did not know of any reason why the attack had been made.

THEATRE OBSERVES FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Special Attractions Billed at Paramount During Holiday Week; New Year's Eve Show

In celebration of the first anniversary of the Brainerd Paramount theatre, Manager Harry Greenberg today announced the following attractions over the holiday period:

Thursday and Friday, James Oliver Curwood's northwoods drama, "River's End" featuring Charles Bickford.

Saturday, Alice White and Neil Hamilton in "The Widow from Chicago."

Sunday, Buddy Rogers in "Along Came Youth."

A feature in the lobby is a Christmas tree near which is a large birthday cake which patrons are guessing as to its weight, prizes being offered.

The theatre opened December 21 1929.

A special midnight show is billed for New Year's Eve, the attraction being "Up The River," a comedy takeoff on "The Big House." Favors and novelties will be given away. An advance sale is now on with tickets obtained by calling or writing the manager.

Legion Auxiliary Treats Trainees and Children at Annual Yule Tree

Forty-five children with their parents were entertained during the afternoon. Santa Claus was there in person, much to the delight of all the children, and handed out a toy, gift and candy to each one. Little Beverly Swanson pleased all with her ballet dance and as an encore gave a tap dance. Some of the children spoke little Christmas pieces and several sang songs for Santa Claus.

Mrs. Clyde Parker was chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Hagberg, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Mraz and Miss Evelyn Mraz. Santa Claus was played by George Sweet.

Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cookies, were served to all.

Those in charge with to extend their appreciation to Wm. Olson and Earl Rhodes for furnishing the Christmas tree and to the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the rooms.

After the party gifts were wrapped and sent to veterans at the St. Cloud hospital. A number of veterans at Fort Snelling were also remembered.

CANDIDATE'S PRISON TERM IS SUSPENDED; PLACED ON PROBATION

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—F. H. Shoemaker, Red Wing candidate for congress today was sentenced to a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $500 for violation of postal regulations. The prison term was suspended immediately and he was placed on probation for five years.

Judge John B. Sanborn read the sentence. Shoemaker had pleaded guilty to the offense November 17 and sentence was postponed for investigation by the federal probation officer.

PROTECTION IS CHILD'S HERITAGE

Mrs. W. H. Gemmell Summarizes Child Welfare Conference at Washington

The following is the summary given by Mrs. W. H. Gemmell of the final session of the Child Welfare Conference which she attended at Washington recently:

Every American child has the right to the following services in its development and protection:

1. Every prospective mother should have suitable information, medical supervision during the prenatal period, competent care at confinement. Every mother should have post- natal medical supervision for herself and child.

2. Every child should receive periodical health examinations before and during the school period including adolesence, by the family physician, or the school or other public physician and such examination by specialists and such hospital care as its special needs may require.

3. Every child should have regular dental examination and care.

4. Every child should have instruction in the schools in health and in safety from accidents, and every teacher should be trained in health programs.

5. Every child should be protected from communicable diseases to which he might be exposed at home, in school or at play, and protected from impure milk and food.

6. Every child should have proper sleeping rooms, diet, hours of sleep and play, and parents should receive expert information as to the needs of children of various ages as to these questions.

7. Every child should attend a school which has proper seating, lighting, ventilation and sanitation. For younger children, kindergartens and nursery schools should be provided to supplement home care.

8. The school should be so organized as to discover and develop the special abilities of each child, and should assist in vocational guidance for children, like men, succeed by the use of their strongest qualities and special interests.

9. Every child should have some form of religious, moral and character training.

10. Every child has a right to a place to play with adequate facilities therefor.

11. With the expanding domain of the community's responsibilities for children, there should be proper provision for and supervision of recreation an dentertainment.

12. Every child should be protected against labor that stunts growth either physical or mental, that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, of joy and play.

13. Every child who is blind, deaf crippled or otherwise physically handicapped should be given expert study and corrective treatment where there is the possibility of relief, and appropriate development or training. Children with subnormal or abnormal mental conditions should receive adequate study, protection, training and care.

14. Every waif and orphan in need must be supported.

15. Every child is entitled to the feeling that he has a home. The extension of the services in the community should supplement and not supplant parents.

16. Children who habitually fail to meet normal standards of human behavior should be provided special care under the guidance of the schools, the community health or welfare center vision or, if necessary control.

or other agency for continued super-

17. Where the child does not have these services, due to inadequate income of the family, then such service must be provided to him by the community.

18. The rural child should have as satisfactory schooling, adequate standard of living, health protection and welfare facilities as the city child.

19. In order that these minimum protections of the health and welfare of children may be everywhere available, there should be a district, county or community organization for health education and welfare, with full-time officials, coordinating with a statewide program which will be responsive to a nation-wide service of general information, statistics and scientific research. This should include:

(a) Trained full time public health officials with public health nurses, sanitary inspection and laboratory workers.

(b) Available hospital beds.

(c) Full-time public welfare services for the relief and aid of children in special need from poverty or misfortune, for the protection of children from abuse, neglect, exploitation or moral hazard.

(d) The development of voluntary organization for children for purposes of instruction, health and recreation through private effort and benefaction. When possible, existing agencies should be coordinated.

It is the purpose of this Conference to establish the standards by which the efficiency of such services may be tested in the community and to develop the creation of such services. These standards are defined in many particulars in the Reports of the Committees of the Conference. The Conference recommends that the Continuing Committee to be appointed by the President from the Conference shall study points upon which agreement has not been reached, shall develop further standards, shall encourage the establishment of services for children, and report to the members of the Conference through the president.

Stratemeyer-Wearne Wedding Saturday

Miss Elzaida Wearne and Ernest H. Stratemeyer, both of Crosby, were married Saturday afternoon at the probate court rooms, Probate Judge L. B. Kinder performing the ceremony. Witnesses were J. W. Stratemeyer and Esther Stratemeyer.

REPORTS POISON GAS ATTACK ON HOME

Cochran, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—A poison gas attack on him home was reported today by Henry Balduc, farmer near here.

Balduc told Hennepin county sheriff's deputies that the front window of his home was broken in Sunday night and an article believed to be a gas bomb hurled in.

Search of the house was made today for the bomb, but deputy sheriffs were unable to find anything of that nature in or near the house.

Balduck said a similar attack on his home was made about three months ago. He said he had no enemies and did not know of any reason why the attack had been made.

THEATRE OBSERVES FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Special Attractions Billed at Paramount During Holiday Week; New Year's Eve Show

In celebration of the first anniversary of the Brainerd Paramount theatre, Manager Harry Greenberg today announced the following attractions over the holiday period:

Thursday and Friday, James Oliver Curwood's northwoods drama, "River's End" featuring Charles Bickford.

Saturday, Alice White and Neil Hamilton in "The Widow from Chicago."

Sunday, Buddy Rogers in "Along Came Youth."

A feature in the lobby is a Christmas tree near which is a large birthday cake which patrons are guessing as to its weight, prizes being offered.

The theatre opened December 21 1929.

A special midnight show is billed for New Year's Eve, the attraction being "Up The River," a comedy takeoff on "The Big House." Favors and novelties will be given away. An advance sale is now on with tickets obtained by calling or writing the manager.

Forty-five children with their parents were entertained during the afternoon. Santa Claus was there in person, much to the delight of all the children, and handed out a toy, gift and candy to each one. Little Beverly Swanson pleased all with her ballet dance and as an encore gave a tap dance. Some of the children spoke little Christmas pieces and several sang songs for Santa Claus.

Mrs. Clyde Parker was chairman in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Hagberg, Jr., Mrs. A. C. Mraz and Miss Evelyn Mraz. Santa Claus was played by George Sweet.

Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cookies, were served to all.

Those in charge with to extend their appreciation to Wm. Olson and Earl Rhodes for furnishing the Christmas tree and to the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the rooms.

After the party gifts were wrapped and sent to veterans at the St. Cloud hospital. A number of veterans at Fort Snelling were also remembered.

CANDIDATE'S PRISON TERM IS SUSPENDED; PLACED ON PROBATION

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—F. H. Shoemaker, Red Wing candidate for congress today was sentenced to a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $500 for violation of postal regulations. The prison term was suspended immediately and he was placed on probation for five years.

Judge John B. Sanborn read the sentence. Shoemaker had pleaded guilty to the offense November 17 and sentence was postponed for investigation by the federal probation officer.

DRAFT GAS AND OIL STORAGE CODE

Ordinance Regulating Storage And Sale of Inflammable Liquids Gets First Reading

An ordinance to regulate the storage, sale and use of imflammable liquids in the city of Brainerd in the city may go into effect early in the new year upon urgence of Fire Chief Frank W. Fuller who was aided in drafting the ordinance by City Attorney D. H. Fullerton and a special committee consisting of Aldermen Ernest Ritari, W. J. Hall and Chris Elvig.

The ordinance received its first reading at last week's council meeting and will come up for consideration again at the January 5 meeting. It requires two more readings before it is legally adopted.

Those drafting the code considered similar ordinances now in effect at Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Cloud.

The ordinance ingeneral covers location, installation of tanks for the storage of gas and oil in bulk and service stations, safety appliances, establishes a zoning for tanks between the Mississippi river and 11th street on the right of way of the Northern Pacific railway, provides that all tanks be dyked or walled to localize the fire in case of a ruptured tank and provides for the licensing of the bulk storage tanks.

The regulation governing zoning of tanks will not affect those already installed but all tanks must be dyked.

"Dyking will prevent the flow of burning gasoline and oil from other property and sewers should a fire break out." We are also working on an oil burner ordinance and another covering electrical installation," Chief Fuller said.

No bulk station can be located 400 feet from an public building while no service station can be constructed 50 feet from a public building while noing to the new ordinance now under consideration.

"With the final passage of the ordinance we hope to purchase foam equipment for the protection of buildings from possible gas and oil fires," Mr. Fuller stated.

4 ITALIAN FLYING SQUADRONS NOW AT SIBOU RIVER

Kenitra, French Morocco, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The four Italian flying squadrons being led by Minister of Air Italo Balbo on a flight to South America were anchored in the Sibou river here today, ready to continue down the African coast to Villa Cisneros.

Balbo hoped to reach Villa Cisneros and Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, in flight hops of one day each. He then planned to await favorable weather for the trans-Atlantic crossing to Natal, northern Brazil, which he expected to make in 19 hours.

A great crowd of Europeans, natives, and officials welcomed the seaplanes on their arrival here yesterday from Cartagena, Spain. Balbo was greeted by the Italian consul, and the fliers were received by the resident general, Lucien Saint.

A group of French planes flew north to accompany the Italians on the last part of the flight. Two machines of the Italian group did not get away from Cartagena, but were expected to join the rest of the fleet here today.

Cartagena, Spain, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Two Italian seaplanes of the group of 12 craft en route from Italy to South America proceeded today toward Kenitra, where ten other planes and two escort craft arrived yesterday.

Polk and Roseau Counties Have Books in Fine Shape

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Polk and Roseau counties will go into the new year with their books and records in perfect condition, the state public examiner's office reported today. Examination of the county documents showed no irregularities.

MINNESOTA AS AN IRON PRODUCER

HAS DOUBLE THE ORE OUTPUT OF ALL OTHER STATES IN 1929

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Minnesota produced double the iron ore output of all other states in 1929, the U. S. census bureau reported to local officials today.

The Minneosta production totalled 16,815,207 tons while the figure for the entire country was 73,936,641.

Value of the ore was $200,129,695 representing a more than 8 per cent decrease since 1919 though volume had increased nearly 21 per cent.

Following Minnesota in ore mining were Michigan with 15,238,409 tons; Alabama, 6,424,478; Wisconsin, 1,618,093; Pennsylvania, 1,093,133; and New York, 823,327.

Number of mines, number of wage earners and total amount of wages paid dropped markedly as did the cost of supplies and development.

ELKS FREE SHOW FOR THE KIDDIES

To be Given at the Paramount Theatre at 10 O'clock Tomorrow Morning, Large Crowd Expected

GOODIES FOR CHILDREN

Elks Sacking Bee Held Tonight at Club Rooms to Sack Candies, Nuts and Fruits for Kiddies

The annual Christmas kiddies frolic, a free show, sponsored by the Elks lodge of Brainerd for the past ten years or more, will be biven at 10 a. m. tomorrow morning at the Paramount theatre, that organization through its manager, Harry Greenberg, entering in the spirit of the occasion and donating play house and the spirited film, "The Wagon Master" with Ken Maynard in the title role. It is a fast moving, action-full, outdoor drama that is so well liked by all kiddies. There will also be selected short subjects including comedies and novelties.

Elks and the theatre organization will combine to make it a glorious day for the children. As usual, there will be polite ushers reinforced by members of the police and fire departments and the Elks to see to the safety and well being of the children.

The parochial school, which is still in session, will have a morning recess permitting the children to attend the show. As was noticed in the first show given years ago, there may also be quite a few children here from the country.

Elks tonight headed by a committee consisting of the House and Social committee and other assisting Elks will meet at the Elks club and sack candies, nuts and fruit. This sacking bee works with all the ardor and dispatch of a ladies aid. New Elks candies carry insignia of the lodge.

Henry Roberts, of tall physique and portly dimensions, has been selected as Santa Claus, and will be the pleasing ambasador of the holiday saint in distributing the goodies.

This is one party of the year in which nobody worries about attendance, the only worry is in getting all the kiddies into the show house. That a "good time will be had by all" goes without saying. Each show has been better than its predecessor.

DRAFT GAS AND OIL STORAGE CODE

Ordinance Regulating Storage And Sale of Inflammable Liquids Gets First Reading

An ordinance to regulate the storage, sale and use of imflammable liquids in the city of Brainerd in the city may go into effect early in the new year upon urgence of Fire Chief Frank W. Fuller who was aided in drafting the ordinance by City Attorney D. H. Fullerton and a special committee consisting of Aldermen Ernest Ritari, W. J. Hall and Chris Elvig.

The ordinance received its first reading at last week's council meeting and will come up for consideration again at the January 5 meeting. It requires two more readings before it is legally adopted.

Those drafting the code considered similar ordinances now in effect at Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Cloud.

The ordinance in general covers location, installation of tanks for the storage of gas and oil in bulk and service stations, safety appliances, establishes a zoning for tanks between the Mississippi river and 11th street on the right of way of the Northern Pacific railway, provides that all tanks be dyked or walled to localize the fire in case of a ruptured tank and provides for the licensing of the bulk storage tanks.

The regulation governing zoning of tanks will not affect those already installed but all tanks must be dyked.

"Dyking will prevent the flow of burning gasoline and oil from other property and sewers should a fire break out." We are also working on an oil burner ordinance and another covering electrical installation," Chief Fuller said.

No bulk station can be located 400 feet from an public building while no service station can be constructed 50 feet from a public building while no ing to the new ordinance now under consideration.

"With the final passage of the ordinance we hope to purchase foam equipment for the protection of buildings from possible gas and oil fires," Mr. Fuller stated.

4 ITALIAN FLYING SQUADRONS NOW AT SIBOU RIVER

Kenitra, French Morocco, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—The four Italian flying squadrons being led by Minister of Air Italo Balbo on a flight to South America were anchored in the Sibou river here today, ready to continue down the African coast to Villa Cisneros.

Balbo hoped to reach Villa Cisneros and Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, in flight hops of one day each. He then planned to await favorable weather for the trans-Atlantic crossing to Natal, northern Brazil, which he expected to make in 19 hours.

A great crowd of Europeans, natives, and officials welcomed the seaplanes on their arrival here yesterday from Cartagena, Spain. Balbo was greeted by the Italian consul, and the fliers were received by the resident general, Lucien Saint.

A group of French planes flew north to accompany the Italians on the last part of the flight. Two machines of the Italian group did not get away from Cartagena, but were expected to join the rest of the fleet here today.

Cartagena, Spain, Dec. 22.—(U.P.) — Two Italian seaplanes of the group of 12 craft en route from Italy to South America proceeded today toward Kenitra, where ten other planes and two escort craft arrived yesterday.

MINNESOTA AS AN IRON PRODUCER

HAS DOUBLE THE ORE OUTPUT OF ALL OTHER STATES IN 1929

St. Paul, Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Minnesota produced double the iron ore output of all other states in 1929, the U. S. census bureau reported to local officials today.

The Minneosta production totalled 36,815,207 tons while the figure for the entire country was 73,936,641.

Value of the ore was $200,129,695 representing a more than 8 per cent decrease since 1919 though volume had increased nearly 21 per cent.

Following Minnesota in ore mining were Michigan with 15,238,409 tons; Alabama, 6,424,478; Wisconsin, 1,618,093; Pennsylvania, 1,093,133; and New York, 823,327.

Number of mines, number of wage earners and total amount of wages paid dropped markedly as did the cost of supplies and development.

ELKS FREE SHOW FOR THE KIDDIES

To be Given at the Paramount Theatre at 10 O'clock Tomorrow Morning, Large Crowd Expected

GOODIES FOR CHILDREN

Elks Sacking Bee Held Tonight at Club Rooms to Sack Candies, Nuts and Fruits for Kiddies

The annual Christmas kiddies frolic, a free show, sponsored by the Elks lodge of Brainerd for the past ten years or more, will be biven at 10 a. m. tomorrow morning at the Paramount theatre, that organization through its manager, Harry Greenberg, entering in the spirit of the occasion and donating play house and the spirited film, "The Wagon Master" with Ken Maynard in the title role. It is a fast moving, action-full, outdoor drama that is so well liked by all kiddies. There will also be selected short subjects including comedies and novelties.

Elks and the theatre organization will combine to make it a glorious day for the children. As usual, there will be polite ushers reinforced by members of the police and fire departments and the Elks to see to the safety and well being of the children.

The parochial school, which is still in session, will have a morning recess permitting the children to attend the show. As was noticed in the first show given years ago, there may also be quite a few children here from the country.

Elks tonight headed by a committee consisting of the House and Social committee and other assisting Elks will meet at the Elks club and sack candies, nuts and fruit. This sacking bee works with all the ardor and dispatch of a ladies aid. New Elks candies carry insignia of the lodge.

Henry Roberts, of tall physique and portly dimensions, has been selected as Santa Claus, and will be the pleasing ambasador of the holiday saint in distributing the goodies.

This is one party of the year in which nobody worries about attendance, the only worry is in getting all the kiddies into the show house. That a "good time will be had by all" goes without saying. Each show has been better than its predecessor.

GIRL UNAFRAID

BY GLADYS JOHNSON

ARDETH CARROLL is just a shopgirl, leading a very simple life, but her ideals are high. She looks beyond the drab existence marriage to Neil Burke would mean. Seeing handsome Ken Gleason with Cecile Parker, society belle, Ardeth's heart leaps. When Cecile's sister, Jeanette, opens a specialty shop, she asks Ardeth to take charge. Ardeth meets Ken at the shop. Shortly after, knowing Jeanette has left for the day, Ken calls, feigning he had planned to drive Jeanette home. He asks Ardeth to go instead. Ken plans a foursome of Ardeth, Jeanette, Tom Corbett and himself. Jeanette and Tom are unable to go, so Ken is alone with Ardeth. They picnic together, their hearts racing with each other's nearness. Ken kisses Ardeth.

CHAPTER IX.

Something of sadness touched the girl as they walked over the plank runway to where the blue automobile waited on the road.

Some minutes after thty had started she looked back. The ark was almost swallowed up in the immensity of the marshes. Small . . . remote . . . Already a thing of memory . . . like this golden day—like Ken's first kiss. . . .

She had had her perfect day . . . the wistful words of the song stealing into her mind, weaving themselves with the wide marshes and the sad sunset light. She did not realize she was singing them until she heard Ken's pleasant baritone humming beside her.

"When you come to the end of a perfect day . . .
And you sit alone with your thoughts——"

"For memory has painted the perfect day—
In colors which will not fade,
And you find at the end of a perfect day—
The heart of a friend you've made . . ."

Glancing down, Ken caught the glint of tears on her lashes. He stopped the car and tilted her face with one hand.

"You funny, adorable cry baby!"

She smiled but kept her eyes stubbornly shut.

"It's just the sunset and—and all. It is just that it seems too beautiful to last . . ."

The words went on echoing in the man's mind long after they had been spoken. They wove into the humming of the engine, persisting like the blowing of a lonely wind.

They stopped for dinner at a roadside tavern—a rambling frame house half hidden in live oaks. Over a small corner table they faced each other. The upflung gleam of candle-light touched the girl's face to glowing rose and made a golden nimbus of her hair, and again the young fellow felt his heart moved by her unusual beauty.

Ken had remembered this road house from his college days. College days . . . a time which now seemed to be very remote—tantalizingly carefree. Unthinkable that life could change so in such a comparatively short time! A few years in the world and a fellow was bound—soul and body. Rebellion surged in him. Unfair—that fate could get a man in a straightjacket of circumstances so that he could not carry out his own desires . .

They talked and laughed, as they had done earlier in the day, but something of that first tingling joy was gone.

Ardeth slept on the boat going back to the city, curled up on the seat like a tired child, one cheek pillowed on his arm.

The man sat looking down at her and his face was very sober.

Sweet little kid. Something touching in her utter trust of him. He'd have to be careful. He could so easily make her care for him. Care deeply . . . and she could so easily be hurt. Funny, this protective tenderness she could rouse in him. Oh, God—why couldn't a man live his life to suit himself.

Thrum! thrum! thrum! Those were the engines underfoot. Something like life, this ferry ride. A brief passage between ports—the thrumming of a mighty heart. Then the heart stopped pumping and you were on the other side.

Here! Snap out of it! Nothing very original about that thought—and what a gloom he was getting to be!

They were getting in—the creaking piles sliding by the dark windows. Ken looked swiftly around to make sure no one from the surrounding cars could see, then he leaned down and woke Ardeth with a hasty kiss.

At the street corner where he had parked that morning Ken stopped the car. Words were strangely lacking between them. The girl's heart was crying out to know when she would see him again. When he would call her up. But words would not come to her lips.

He kissed her good-by, not with the fire of a few hours before, but gently—a kiss somehow wistful.

Then she was standing alone on the pavement, watching the red tail-light of his car turn around the corner—and there was a little forlorn ache in her heart.

By morning her spirits had lifted. Another day. Ken would be in—his tall figure, white smile bringing the brisk outside air into the heated shop.

Memories keeping her company—closing out the reality of the gray flat—of the crowded street car—Ken's vivid face poised over her own—his eyes tender and laughing between narrowed lashes. Life surging on in a rush of happiness again.

She had been a trifle apprehensive about facing Jeanette this morning. What would Jeanette ask? How much should she tell her?

But Jeanette was gratifyingly full of her own plans today. She had little time and less patience for another girl's romance.

She had conceived the idea of turning the back room of the shop into a "smokerie."

"A place where women can drop in when they're downtown shopping, and have a chat and a cigarette, Ardeth. If we have Tony move the empty crates out of the basement we'll use that for store room, and this other is just so much waste space now."

The room behind the main shop was a long, narrow apartment, with one window looking out on a dreary little alley. But Jeanette's spontaneous energy was equal to the task. She paced the floor all day in a fine frenzy of creation.

"I'll have the window painted and draped. Put in couches and soft-shaded lamps and thick rugs—make it like an Oriental den. We'll serve orange pekoe tea free, and charge them fancy prices for cigarettes—remind me to lay in a stock of holders and enamel cases, Ardeth. And it will move the goods in the front shop, too!"

Ardeth listened, applauded, suggested. No one watching her would have guessed that her heart was aching. That all of life had gone flat and gray before her sick eyes.

Three o'clock . . . four o'clock . . . six o'clock. The day dragged by interminably, and Ken did not come in.

Nor did he come the next day . . . Nor the next.

In the days which followed that golden Saturday Ardeth tasted the dregs of humiliation.

She had been a fool! She had fallen in love with a man who cared nothing for her. What had been to her a glorious dream had been to him merely another necking party.

What had been to her a glorious dream had been to him just another necking party.

Memory flashed pictures to torment her. Ken's eyes smiling down into her own . . . His voice murmuring, "Like me a little?" How fervently she had clung to him . . .

"Oh . . . Oh!" She pressed her hands to her hot cheeks in shame.

He thought her cheap . . . that was why he had not come into the store . . .

Her own wretched face stared forlonly back at her from the glass. Why had she been so eager? She must have been crazy to act so . . . But, oh, how cruel—how needlessly cruel he was! She hated him . . . almost as much as she hated herself.

Life was flat and miserable. Days were endless — nights were worse. She tossed with unhappy dreams until Bet loudly complained, or she lay staring wide-eyed and miserable into the dark long after the rest of the family had fallen asleep.

She lashed herself up to a sort of self-scorn.

"Well, what else could she expect? Did a man have to marry a girl simply because he took her on a Sunday outing and gave her a few careless kisses?

SPAIN HAS MANY POLITICAL PRISONERS

REPUBLICAN AND EXTREMIST LEADERS FEEL GOVERNMEN'S DISPLEASURE

By WILLIAM H. LANDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Madrid, Dec. 22.—The government found itself with an unexpectedly large number of political prisoners today, only a week after arrests began among republican and extremist leaders in connection with the recent attempted revolution.

Military and judicial machinery worked at full force trying to clear the cases as speedily as possible. Many of the men in jail made voluntary confessions of their complicity in the rebel movement.

Students planned to petition the government to release all professors and students held, and favored calling a student strike if the government did not meet their request. According to tentative plans, the strike would begin January 10, when the Christmas vacation ends.

Visitors to the political prisoners numbered thousands. Alcala Zamora and other republican leaders were well treated in the jails. There was no indication that summary court martial, such as that administered when two captains were sentenced to execution and five others to life imprisonment for their parts in the Jaca revolt, would be held in any of the other cases pending.

Chief interest centered in Zamora's case, as he is a former cabinet minister and most prominent of the men under arrest. Zamora was taken from his home here at the time the rebels hoped that their nationwide movement would begin. Angel Assorio Gallarza, dean of Madrid lawyers who remains a monarchist although he has publicly asked the abdication of King Alfonso, will defend Zamora.

Republicans hoped that the speeches of lawyer and defendant in court would convert Zamora's trial before a bar of military justice into a trial of King Alfonso before a bar of public opinion.

Many persons arrested in the provinces during the recent disturbances have been freed.

Manuel Azana, president of the Antheneum Club of Madrid and also a functionaire of the foreign office, requested three months' leave without pay to establish a residence outside Madrid.

Newspaper offices were notified that no more pictures regarding the revolution could be printed.

Ramon Franco's father-in-law, named Diaz, and the brother of Pablo Rada, Franco's mechanic, were arrested charged with possessing arms when the revolutionary movement started a week ago.

Mrs. Catherine McGuane, 105, Dies at Winona

Winona, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Catherine McGuane, 105, who claimed to be Minnesota's "grand old lady," died yesterday at the home of Mrs. Mary O'Malley.

She left Ireland in 1850 to come to the United States. Mrs. McGuane was born in Clare county, Ireland, on May 27, 1825. Shortly after her arrival in New York from abroad, she married John McGuane. They came to Winona where they lived for the rest of their lives except for a short time when Mrs. McGuane lived in Minneapolis in 1928.

Only one of her children, Mrs. Mary Rice, Los Angeles, is living. Mrs. McGuane also is survived by 27 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. Her husband died some years ago.

2 Pilots and Passenger Miraculously Escape Death in Plane Crash

Alhambra, Calif., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Two pilots and a passenger of a trimotored Western Air Express mail plane miraculously escaped death today when the ship, inbound from Salt Lake City, overshot the landing field here and crashed into a house, bursting into flames.

Pilots Bart Cox and George Sherwood were in charge of the ship. The passenger's identity was not learned immediately.

Fourteen hundred and forty-five pounds of Christmas mail was destroyed with the plane, as well as the house into which it had crashed.

Frank Vanderkylen, Criminally Insane, is Returned to Hospital

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Police representatives from New York arrived here today to return Frank Vanderkylen to the New York State hospital for the criminally insane from which he escaped Dec. 4.

Vanderkylen made no resistance when police, informed that the "crazy killer" was hiding in a North Side house, surrounded the place yesterday and arrested him.

He waived extradition proceedings. The escaped prisoner was given that name when he murdered his bigamous wife by throwing acid on her.

Capture of Vanderkylen returns to custody five of the men who broke from the hospital in violent fashion. Four of them were taken in Brooklyn recently.

GIRL UNAFRAID

BY GLADYS JOHNSON

ARDETH CARROLL is just a shopgirl, leading a very simple life, but her ideals are high. She looks beyond the drab existence marriage to Neil Burke would mean. Seeing handsome Ken Gleason with Cecile Parker, society belle, Ardeth's heart leaps. When Cecile's sister, Jeanette, opens a specialty shop, she asks Ardeth to take charge. Ardeth meets Ken at the shop. Shortly after, knowing Jeanette has left for the day, Ken calls, feigning he had planned to drive Jeanette home. He asks Ardeth to go instead. Ken plans a foursome of Ardeth, Jeanette, Tom Corbett and himself. Jeanette and Tom are unable to go, so Ken is alone with Ardeth. They picnic together, their hearts racing with each other's nearness. Ken kisses Ardeth.

CHAPTER IX.

Something of sadness touched the girl as they walked over the plank runway to where the blue automobile waited on the road.

Some minutes after thty had started she looked back. The ark was almost swallowed up in the immensity of the marshes. Small . . . remote . . . Already a thing of memory . . . like this golden day—like Ken's first kiss. . . .

She had had her perfect day . . . the wistful words of the song stealing into her mind, weaving themselves with the wide marshes and the sad sunset light. She did not realize she was singing them until she heard Ken's pleasant baritone humming beside her.

"When you come to the end of a perfect day . . .
And you sit alone with your thoughts——"

"For memory has painted the perfect day—
In colors which will not fade,
And you find at the end of a perfect day—
The heart of a friend you've made . . ."

Glancing down, Ken caught the glint of tears on her lashes. He stopped the car and tilted her face with one hand.

"You funny, adorable cry baby!"

She smiled but kept her eyes stubbornly shut.

"It's just the sunset and—and all. It is just that it seems too beautiful to last . . ."

The words went on echoing in the man's mind long after they had been spoken. They wove into the humming of the engine, persisting like the blowing of a lonely wind.

They stopped for dinner at a roadside tavern—a rambling frame house half hidden in live oaks. Over a small corner table they faced each other. The upflung gleam of candle-light touched the girl's face to glowing rose and made a golden nimbus of her hair, and again the young fellow felt his heart moved by her unusual beauty.

Ken had remembered this road house from his college days. College days . . . a time which now seemed to be very remote—tantalizingly carefree. Unthinkable that life could change so in such a comparatively short time! A few years in the world and a fellow was bound—soul and body. Rebellion surged in him. Unfair—that fate could get a man in a straightjacket of circumstances so that he could not carry out his own desires . .

They talked and laughed, as they had done earlier in the day, but something of that first tingling joy was gone.

Ardeth slept on the boat going back to the city, curled up on the seat like a tired child, one cheek pillowed on his arm.

The man sat looking down at her and his face was very sober.

Sweet little kid. Something touching in her utter trust of him. He'd have to be careful. He could so easily make her care for him. Care deeply . . . and she could so easily be hurt. Funny, this protective tenderness she could rouse in him. Oh, God—why couldn't a man live his life to suit himself.

Thrum! thrum! thrum! Those were the engines underfoot. Something like life, this ferry ride. A brief passage between ports—the thrumming of a mighty heart. Then the heart stopped pumping and you were on the other side.

Here! Snap out of it! Nothing very original about that thought—and what a gloom he was getting to be!

They were getting in—the creaking piles sliding by the dark windows. Ken looked swiftly around to make sure no one from the surrounding cars could see, then he leaned down and woke Ardeth with a hasty kiss.

At the street corner where he had parked that morning Ken stopped the car. Words were strangely lacking between them. The girl's heart was crying out to know when she would see him again. When he would call her up. But words would not come to her lips.

He kissed her good-by, not with the fire of a few hours before, but gently—a kiss somehow wistful.

Then she was standing alone on the pavement, watching the red tail-light of his car turn around the corner—and there was a little forlorn ache in her heart.

By morning her spirits had lifted. Another day. Ken would be in—his tall figure, white smile bringing the brisk outside air into the heated shop.

Memories keeping her company—closing out the reality of the gray flat—of the crowded street car—Ken's vivid face poised over her own—his eyes tender and laughing between narrowed lashes. Life surging on in a rush of happiness again.

She had been a trifle apprehensive about facing Jeanette this morning. What would Jeanette ask? How much should she tell her?

But Jeanette was gratifyingly full of her own plans today. She had little time and less patience for another girl's romance.

She had conceived the idea of turning the back room of the shop into a "smokerie."

"A place where women can drop in when they're downtown shopping, and have a chat and a cigarette, Ardeth. If we have Tony move the empty crates out of the basement we'll use that for storeroom, and this other is just so much waste space now."

The room behind the main shop was a long, narrow apartment, with one window looking out on a dreary little alley. But Jeanette's spontaneous energy was equal to the task. She paced the floor all day in a fine frenzy of creation.

"I'll have the window painted and draped. Put in couches and soft-shaded lamps and thick rugs—make it like an Oriental den. We'll serve orange pekoe tea free, and charge them fancy prices for cigarettes—remind me to lay in a stock of holders and enamel cases, Ardeth. And it will move the goods in the front shop, too!"

Ardeth listened, applauded, suggested. No one watching her would have guessed that her heart was aching. That all of life had gone flat and gray before her sick eyes.

Three o'clock . . . four o'clock . . . six o'clock. The day dragged by interminably, and Ken did not come in.

Nor did he come the next day . . . Nor the next.

In the days which followed that golden Saturday Ardeth tasted the dregs of humiliation.

She had been a fool! She had fallen in love with a man who cared nothing for her. What had been to her a glorious dream had been to him merely another necking party.

What had been to her a glorious dream had been to him just another necking party.

Memory flashed pictures to torment her. Ken's eyes smiling down into her own . . . His voice murmuring, "Like me a little?" How fervently she had clung to him . . . "Oh . . . Oh!" She pressed her hands to her hot cheeks in shame.

He thought her cheap . . . that was why he had not come into the store . . .

Her own wretched face stared forlonly back at her from the glass. Why had she been so eager? She must have been crazy to act so . . . But, oh, how cruel—how needlessly cruel he was! She hated him . . . almost as much as she hated herself.

Life was flat and miserable. Days were endless — nights were worse. She tossed with unhappy dreams until Bet loudly complained, or she lay staring wide-eyed and miserable into the dark long after the rest of the family had fallen asleep.

She lashed herself up to a sort of self-scorn.

"Well, what else could she expect? Did a man have to marry a girl simply because he took her on a Sunday outing and gave her a few careless kisses?

SPAIN HAS MANY POLITICAL PRISONERS

REPUBLICAN AND EXTREMIST LEADERS FEEL GOVERNMEN'S DISPLEASURE

By WILLIAM H. LANDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Madrid, Dec. 22.—The government found itself with an unexpectedly large number of political prisoners today, only a week after arrests began among republican and extremist leaders in connection with the recent attempted revolution.

Military and judicial machinery worked at full force trying to clear the cases as speedily as possible. Many of the men in jail made voluntary confessions of their complicity in the rebel movement.

Students planned to petition the government to release all professors and students held, and favored calling a student strike if the government did not meet their request. According to tentative plans, the strike would begin January 10, when the Christmas vacation ends.

Visitors to the political prisoners numbered thousands. Alcala Zamora and other republican leaders were well treated in the jails. There was no indication that summary court martial, such as that administered when two captains were sentenced to execution and five others to life imprisonment for their parts in the Jaca revolt, would be held in any of the other cases pending.

Chief interest centered in Zamora's case, as he is a former cabinet minister and most prominent of the men under arrest. Zamora was taken from his home here at the time the rebels hoped that their nationwide movement would begin. Angel Assorio Gallarza, dean of Madrid lawyers who remains a monarchist although he has publicly asked the abdication of King Alfonso, will defend Zamora.

Republicans hoped that the speeches of lawyer and defendant in court would convert Zamora's trial before a bar of military justice into a trial of King Alfonso before a bar of public opinion.

Many persons arrested in the provinces during the recent disturbances have been freed.

Manuel Azana, president of the Antheneum Club of Madrid and also a functionaire of the foreign office, requested three months' leave without pay to establish a residence outside Madrid.

Newspaper offices were notified that no more pictures regarding the revolution could be printed.

Ramon Franco's father-in-law, named Diaz, and the brother of Pablo Rada, Franco's mechanic, were arrested charged with possessing arms when the revolutionary movement started a week ago.

Mrs. Catherine McGuane, 105, Dies at Winona

Winona, Minn., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Catherine McGuane, 105, who claimed to be Minnesota's "grand old lady," died yesterday at the home of Mrs. Mary O'Malley.

She left Ireland in 1850 to come to the United States. Mrs. McGuane was born in Clare county, Ireland, on May 27, 1825. Shortly after her arrival in New York from abroad, she married John McGuane. They came to Winona where they lived for the rest of their lives except for a short time when Mrs. McGuane lived in Minneapolis in 1928.

Only one of her children, Mrs. Mary Rice, Los Angeles, is living. Mrs. McGuane also is survived by 27 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. Her husband died some years ago.

2 Pilots and Passenger Miraculously Escape Death in Plane Crash

Alhambra, Calif., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Two pilots and a passenger of a trimotored Western Air Express mail plane miraculously escaped death today when the ship, inbound from Salt Lake City, overshot the landing field here and crashed into a house, bursting into flames.

Pilots Bart Cox and George Sherwood were in charge of the ship. The passenger's identity was not learned immediately.

Fourteen hundred and forty-five pounds of Christmas mail was destroyed with the plane, as well as the house into which it had crashed.

Frank Vanderkylen, Criminally Insane, is Returned to Hospital

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 22.—(U.P.)—Police representatives from New York arrived here today to return Frank Vanderkylen to the New York State hospital for the criminally insane from which he escaped Dec. 4.

Vanderkylen made no resistance when police, informed that the "crazy killer" was hiding in a North Side house, surrounded the place yesterday and arrested him.

He waived extradition proceedings. The escaped prisoner was given that name when he murdered his bigamous wife by throwing acid on her.

Capture of Vanderklyen returns to custody five of the men who broke from the hospital in violent fashion. Four of them were taken in Brooklyn recently.
